ROOSEVELT FORCES CONCEDED CLEAR VICTORY

"RIGHT OF WAY" FOR NEW DEAL

EARLY RETURNS GIVE DEMOCRATS JOY

SEVEN KILLED IN U.S. ELECTION FEUDS

BREACHES OF ELECTORAL LAW CHARGED

New York, Nov. 6. President Franklin D. Roosevelt has won a clear "right of way" for the New Deal for another two-year period as a result of the elections in forty-seven states to-day. This is conceded even by the Republican "strong men" who watched the early returns here, rolling in a steadily increasing majority for Democrats from the Eastern and Middle Western States.

The election appeared to be following the predictions of political observers, and except in a very few centres the early voting was pro-Democrat.

The nation went to the poll amid a welter of charges and counter-charges by both sides of intimidation, violence, illegal registrations of voters, and other breaches of the Electoral Law.

Accusations of high-handedness were hurled against police, deputy United States marshals and sheriffs, and there were numerous arrests, notably in Pennsylvania, where feeling is very bitter after the affair at Hazelton.

Four people died of wounds inflicted by the ruthless machine-gunners who opened fire on a parade of Democrats just outside Hazelton.

These were not the only deaths in election feuds. At West Union, Ohio, a sixty-year-old man was shot dead in an election quarrel. He was the seventh person killed in political fights during the last 24 hours.

HEAVY POLL.

(Special to "Telegraph").

New York, Nov. 6. Early scattered returns from the East and mid-West, including Massachusetts, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan and New Hampshire, indicate that a heavy vote is being polled with the Democrats generally leading by a good margin. —United Press.

NEW DEAL CONGRESS.

Washington, Nov. 6. A New Deal Congress seems an accomplished fact. Returns indicate a record poll for a year in which no presidential election is involved.

Governor Lehman of New York is apparently romping home to office.

West Virginia, Maryland, New York State soon reported leads for the Democratic senatorial candidates while all Democrats were elected as usual from Georgia, Mississippi and other southern states.

In an electoral contest in Chicago between two negroes, the Republican representative is losing ground.

The Democrats will undoubtedly increase their Senate strength to a two-thirds majority as the latest returns from the hitherto predominantly Republican states of Maryland, West Virginia, Connecticut and Ohio show the Republican vote is in arrears. —Reuter.

NEW LIFE FOR NAVAL PARLEYS

U.S. TO FOLLOW BRITISH PLAN

SIMON AND DAVIS IN AGREEMENT

London, Nov. 6. A formula by which the present naval conversations may be safely continued was suggested by Sir John Simon, the guardian of the British interests at the London parley, when he had an interview with Mr. Norman Davis, chief of the United States delegates, to-day.

Sir John emphasised the fact that the British Government desired to see an understanding reached which would enable the 1935 Naval Conference to be called with some hope of success.

Mr. Davis informed the British Foreign Minister that the American delegation of experts was prepared to continue the talks on the new basis that Sir John has in mind.

After this assurance of American support for the British endeavour, the naval talks will reopen with full delegation conferences this week. —Reuter.

SIMON MEETS DAVIS.

London, Nov. 6. In continuation of the naval discussion Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, had interview with Mr. Norman Davis, the chief United States representative, at the House of Commons this afternoon. —British Wireless.

Choi Ching, a mason employed on the new Hongkong & Shanghai Bank building, was injured yesterday through being struck on the head by a brick which had become accidentally dislodged. He received a scalp wound, and was sent to the Government Civil Hospital for treatment.

ment forwarded by Colonel Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, who apparently considers any elimination of leading publishers and editors from the poll would detract that much from its value as a national barometer of feeling toward the movement. Col. McCormick votes a decided "No" to the New Deal and Newdom now promises that the poll will include the views of all editors, regardless of how well known is their standing on national economics.

The article added that "newspapers represented in this second edition of the poll have a combined circulation of 3,763,239 in a population of 12,083,681 in 25 states." —United Press.

KING OF SIAM TO RETURN?

Political Chiefs To See Ruler

(Special to "Telegraph")

Bangkok, Nov. 7. The President of the People's Assembly, the Secretary General of the Council of State, and the Secretary of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs are leaving for England to see King Prajadhipok and explain to him the meaning of the three laws which he refused to approve and which, if they are preserved in spite of him, will serve as an excuse for his abdication.

The delegation will ask the King when he intends to return to Siam and urge him to reconsider his decision to abdicate. —Reuter Special.

Lord Snowden.

FEAR FELT FOR LORD SNOWDEN

SHOWS DISTRESS DURING SPEECH

Physical Strain Too Great

(Special to "Telegraph")

London, Nov. 6. Some alarm is felt among the friends of Lord Snowden for the health of the veteran statesman.

The physical strain of a long speech leaves its mark upon him. He was defending Condensism, pointing home his usual powerful arguments for Free Trade at the Cobden Club at the time, where he was guest of honour at a luncheon meeting, together with Lady Snowden. Suddenly, towards the end of the address, the 70-year-old statesman commenced to show signs of physical distress.

He appeared to lose the trend of his sentences and occasionally passed his hand wearily over his forehead.

Lady Snowden watched her husband's pain with growing anxiety, and finally interrupted him saying: "Sit down, my dear. You are not well."

Lord Snowden, then paused a few seconds and ended his speech with a brief sentence. He subsequently recovered, however, and smoked a cigarette before leaving. —Reuter Special.

It is learned that Mr. Dickerson Hoover, Assistant Director of the Bureau of Navigation, who has been conducting an inquiry into the Morro Castle disaster, will report that spontaneous combustion was probably responsible for the loss of the luxury liner and the deaths of so many of the passengers and crew.

Meanwhile the five senior officers of the ship are facing charges of negligence in the performance of their duties before the Steamboat Inspection Service Board. They have pleaded not guilty. The Board will decide whether to suspend their licences or revoke them altogether. —United Press.

VON PAPEN'S MISSION

Reconciliation Desired

(Special to "Telegraph")

Klagenfurt, Nov. 6. The reconciliation of Austria and Germany was the task entrusted to him by the late President von Hindenburg, declared Herr von Papen when speaking at a meeting of the German colony here to-day.

Herr von Papen was sent to Vienna as an agent of peace following the abortive Nazi putsch and the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss, following which relations with Germany became dangerously strained. —Reuter Special.

THE NAUGHTY CHILD

Your naughty child is not always so blame-worthy as he seems. Like us 'grown-ups,' he is subject to occasional disorganization of the digestive processes which are trying to the nerves, spirits and temper.

Why you see that your little one is 'out-of-order,' moody, fractious, ill-tempered, remember that most likely his stomach is out-of-order, or his teeth are bothering him, or may-be he is constipated, bilious, or worried with worms. In any such case all he needs is a dose of Baby's Own Tablets to quickly set him right.

A medical child-specialist's prescription, Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed absolutely safe and good for even the youngest infant in arms. Your chemist or medicine dealer can supply you with

POLITICAL JUNGLE

"ONLY JUST TIME" TO STOP WAR

LLOYD GEORGE'S WARNING

THE world of to-day is a jungle, and the nations are prowling through it, snarling, and baring their teeth at each other.

This was one of the points made by Mr. Lloyd George in uttering a warning against war when he presided at a gathering in the City Temple, E.C., to welcome Dr. Norwood on his return from his world-tour.

"Have you read," he asked his audience, "that extraordinary speech of Signor Mussolini, the greatest realist in Europe, a man of genius, a man of force, a man of great constructive ability, a man who has got his eye on the conditions? He talks about training the children of Italy from seven upwards to the use of arms.

"Henceforth if that policy is to be followed by every statesman in the world, you will have a scroll on the walls of every school, 'Little children kill one another.'"

"Any moment a mistaken gesture or a misunderstood arrangement may make the nations spring again at each other's throats and tear and rend each other.

"Not yet, not yet! They are licking their wounds now, they are refilling their veins, they have not recovered their strength.

"I have had an experience the last two or three years. I have been walking in memory through the 'jungle' from 1914 to 1918. I will tell you what strikes me most.

"It is not even the terrible carnage, it is the absolute indifference with which it was regarded, the acquiescence of the most highly civilised nations in Christendom in all the destruction, devastation, slaughter, mutilation and suffering.

"There is no war going to come just yet in my judgment, but I may be wrong. I thought so in 1914; I thought it was inconceivable, and I may be wrong now, but even with all my optimistic temperament I tell you there is only just time to stop it—just time.

"It is time that organised Christianity should make an impression on the statesmanship of the world. The greatest Church in Christendom—and I think it ought to be said—was too arrogant to work with Christians who worshipped at other altars even in the service of the Prince of Peace. And you had national, sectarian, and—most despicable of all—personal rivalries and jealousies which wrecked every effort."

CENTENARY TOWER

A centenary "Eiffel" tower, 440 feet high, and surmounted by the largest aerial beacon in the world is to be erected at Melbourne. It will cost £55,000 and will weigh 1,800 tons. Picked out in neon light, it will be visible for more than 100 miles. The actual beacon will be a large rotating searchlight, above which will be the huge neon beacon. The tower will house a continental cabaret, lounge and bars. A promenade to accommodate 300 people will be built at the 300-foot level. Another and a smaller will be built at 400 feet.

PINEAPPLE AND TOMATO

THIS is rather a novel salad. Take half a pineapple, or some slices of tinned pineapple, remove the hard cores and, in the case of the whole fruit, cut into slices. Cut 4 or 5 firm tomatoes into neat slices with a sharp knife. Line a salad bowl with crisp, fresh lettuce leaves, and arrange slices of tomato and pineapple alternately on them. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and a pinch of caster sugar. Pour over all a little pineapple juice, and just before serving a spoonful of mayonnaise on each layer.

POLAR TREK DESCRIBED

RECORD-BREAKING SLEDGE TRIP

The three members of the Lindsey Expedition, which left Great Britain on April 7 and succeeded for the first time in crossing by sledge the 1,100-miles Greenland ice cap from west to east, arrived at Aberdeen a short time ago in the Grimsby trawler Jacinth from Angmagssalik, Southern Greenland.

Some anxiety had been felt for their safety, as severe weather had delayed their arrival at Angmagssalik until September 8, and they had missed the regular steamer to Denmark. They got in touch by wireless with the Jacinth, which was fishing about 10 miles off the Greenland coast, and thus avoided an enforced winter in Greenland.

The members of the expedition were:

Lieut. Martin Lindsay, aged 28 of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, a member of the British Arctic Air Route Expedition led by Mr. H. G. Watkins in 1930-31, and holder of the King's Polar Medal;

Lieut. A. S. Godfrey, aged 24, of the Royal Engineers; and Mr. Andrew Croft, aged 25, son of the Rev. R. W. Croft, vicar of Kelvedon, Essex.

The Jacinth picked up at Angmagssalik on September 15, Lieut. Lindsay said. "Had it been four days later we should have had to remain there till next year, as the

LABOUR ARMY CONSCRIPTION

FIRING AMBITIONS OF NAZI YOUTH

Berlin. The introduction at an early date of compulsory labour service for all German youths was clearly announced by Herr Hitler, Secretary of State for the Labour Service, in a speech he made before thousands of members of the Hitler Youth at Hamburg recently. "The German people," he said, "wish for the general call to compulsory labour service. The wish of the German people is a mark of respect for handicraft and the craftsman."

"A universal call to compulsory labour service will be regarded in future as something as natural as compulsory school attendance is regarded to-day, and will represent an equally great cultural need."

Herr Hitler was interrupted by enthusiastic applause when he said: "The introduction by law of compulsory labour service will come. Only our Leader's decision will fix the date of its introduction. He who is a good fellow will not, however, wait until called up by law, but will follow the moral law of his heart and voluntarily present himself to fulfil this duty."

THE IRON BADGE.

Meanwhile, the natural ambition which inspires German boys organised in the Hitler Youth is being given a new stimulus.

Every able and ambitious boy from now on will double and redouble his efforts in physical training until he is awarded the "Badge of Efficiency"—created by Herr Baldu von Schirach, the leader of the German Youth.

A boy can first compete at the age of 16 and, if he succeeds, may wear an iron badge.

A year later he must compete for another badge, of bronze, if he does not wish to lose his reputation of a young hero in the eyes of his comrades. At 18 he will be eligible to compete for a silver badge.

A boy who has obtained the last badge has proved that he is "first class," and may proudly enter the ranks of young men.

MILITARY TRAINING.

The physical tests which the competitor must pass are divided into three:

Gymnastics, including sprint and 2-miles courses, long-jump, throwing the hammer, putting the weight, swimming, and route marches.

Military Field Exercises, including map-reading, judging distance, topography, camouflage, and the art of taking cover; and

Small-bore Shooting. Young people must, moreover, prove that they have a mind trained in the ideas of National Socialism, and the result of their examination and tests will be entered in a book of records which everyone will have to produce as a man if he wishes to get on in the new Germany.

Ice pack has formed two months earlier than usual this year.

"The expedition did what it set out to do. It has made the longest sledge journey which has ever been done by a self-supporting party."

"We covered between 1,150 and 1,200 miles, of which 1,050 were done without depots and without anybody's help."

"We started from JacobsHAVEN, on the west coast, on June 10, with three sledges and 42 dogs, and 450 miles of our journey was over continuous ice."

"From the time we left the coast settlements on the west until we came to the settlements on the other side we met no one."

FASCIST REBELS

WATCHED BY
SECRET SERVICE

TROUBLE IN THE RANKS

THE existence of a Blackshirt secret service inside the movement was disclosed by Commander Thomas Godman, Fascist administrator for Gloucestershire and one of Sir Oswald Mosley's most trusted lieutenants.

Justifying the summary expulsion without inquiry of rebel Bristol members of the British Union of Fascists, he said: "Throughout the Fascist movement in this country there is a well-organised secret service.

"Its executives send the leader confidential reports on the activities of members.

"If for any reason we suspect the activities of any member then he or she is closely watched.

"Expelled members have the right of appeal to the Leader, but in considering the appeal he will have before him his own confidential report from the secret service."

Commander Godman delivered his statement on the revolt to an audience of loyal Blackshirts at his temporary headquarters in Fishponds Road. No questions were asked.

"If these young men who call themselves rebels come to me I shall receive them as I have always received a Blackshirt," he declared, "but I shall say to them: You may call me the Goering of Gloucester, but I shall hold in my own two hands the administration of Blackshirts in this area."

"The genius of the Leader brought the movement into being. We have only one Leader and I am his ambassador. His orders must be obeyed.

"I have discussed this revolt with the Leader," he added, "and the dismissal orders for two Bristol officers were signed by him personally."

There was a dramatic moment when Mr. A. V. Gough, the rebel leader, entered the hall. He was the only representative of the rebels and he declared that he had received no invitation to attend.

Mr. Gough asked if there would be a further inquiry at which he could produce his own evidence. "There will be no further inquiry," said Commander Godman.

LABOUR SHY OF CONFISCATION

People Would Never
Stand For It

Left-wing Socialists, headed by Sir Stafford Cripps, who, at the party conference at Southport, advocated confiscation of the capital value of industries, were warned by both Mr. Lees-Smith (a former Socialist Postmaster-General) and Mr. Herbert Morrison that the electors would not tolerate such a proposal.

In its policy report the party executive proposed that when an industry was nationalised shareholders should be given the income they were getting and should eventually be repaid in some form or other the capital value.

The Left Wingers put forward an amendment urging that no provision for capital repayment should be made.

Mr. Lees-Smith asked what would be the effect of this latter policy on the next election.

"You will go before the country and say, 'If we are returned within six months we shall confiscate one half to two-thirds of the property of every shareholder in every bank throughout the country.'"

"If there were the slightest prospect of our being returned to carry out this policy there would be a run on the banks straightaway."

Mr. Herbert Morrison said: "Britain is not the type of country and has not the type of people who are going to respond readily to confiscation."

On a card vote the amendment was heavily defeated, the figures being 149,000 for and 2,118,000 against.

Do Young Clergy Wed Too Young?

BISHOPS. WARNING
TO CURATES

Do young clergy marry too early?

This was one of the marriage problems discussed recently at a number of Diocesan Conferences.

The Bishop of Winchester (Dr. Garbutt), speaking at the Winchester Conference said:

"The way in which many of the younger clergy enter into marriage within a short time of their ordination," he said, "is a serious hindrance to their work and an obstacle to their usefulness.

"In some professions it is unusual for a man to marry until he is 30. In contrast ordination is used by many as a quick road to matrimony."

Chelmsford Diocesan Conference passed a resolution urging that members of the Church of England contemplating marriage with Roman Catholics should refuse any conditions which ignored the full catholicity of the Church of England.

Canon Olivier said that among these conditions was one that the children must be educated as Roman Catholics.

"We must not try to prevent a girl from marrying a Roman

This Frankfurt man, Harald Schutz, who does not like cameras, speaks 200 languages. Here he is reading a chit from Korea.

Catholic with whom she has fallen in love," he said, "but the Anglican must be able to counter the other party's fear of ex-communication."

Speaking of marriage and divorce, the Bishop of Salisbury (Dr. St. Clair Donaldson) said it had become inevitable that there should be two standards of marriage, but this also involves the conclusion that many who had married again after divorce in accordance with the law must not be regarded as notorious evil lives, and if all is otherwise in order, should be allowed to receive Holy Communion.

FIGHTING THE FLU

PROGRESS MADE
IN RESEARCH

It is revealed that an announcement of great importance is shortly to be made by the Medical Research Council, whose recent investigations of the problems of influenza have borne fresh fruit.

More than a year has gone by since British research workers (Dr. C. H. Andrews, Dr. Wilson Smith, and Dr. P. P. Laidlaw, of the Mill Hill Farm Research Laboratory) made known to the world the results of their discoveries.

These scientists established that the germ of human influenza can infect a ferret and that ferrets can infect one another just as human beings do by contact; that human beings, like animals, are temporarily immune after an attack and that the blood of human influenza convalescents contains a protective substance.

Two new problems have been confronting the research workers. First, can a means be found to protect the ferret artificially against influenza without actually giving it the disease and if so, can this discovery be applied to human beings?

It is anticipated that the new announcement will throw fresh light on this issue.

A picture of utter desolation is Nome, Alaska, once thriving and colourful centre of the Yukon gold rush, now laid waste by a fire which took a toll variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. This picture shows all that is left of the once prosperous town. Nearly the entire business section is gone, only the government wireless station, a hotel, a hospital, a warehouse and scattered homes remain. With winter closing in, the few remaining inhabitants are threatened with lack of food and shelter.

FREE STATE'S TRADE LOSS

HIGHEST ADVERSE
BALANCE IN YEARS

BRITAIN'S ADVANTAGE

Irish Free State trade returns, published recently for the year ended August 31, reveal that the adverse balance against the 26 counties is the highest for 10 years.

The figure, £10,916,000, represents an increase in the adverse balance of more than £1,500,000, compared with 1933.

The adverse balance has risen steadily since 1930, when the amount was £10,384,000.

Last year the adverse balance was £14,468,000, and the jump from 1933 until now is the biggest on record.

The total trade of the country has, however, increased from £55,789,000 to £57,529,000 for the twelve months.

One of the most noteworthy features of the statistics is that imports from Great Britain increased considerably, while exports to Great Britain showed a decrease. In the period January to August of this year.

During these months the Free State bought £12,044,000 worth of goods from Great Britain, an increase of well over £1,000,000 compared with 1933.

Export figures for the 26 counties show that Great Britain sends to the Free State almost £7,000,000 worth of goods more than she buys.

The value of cattle exported during the first eight months of this year decreased by £1,036,000 compared with the same period of 1933.

The total number of cattle exported did not decrease in the same proportion, which shows that cattle, the chief export of the country, are still falling in value.

cerned, but officials anticipate that a month will elapse before the attitude of the trade can be estimated.

Mr. Fred Mills, President of the Oldham Master Spinners, a member of Lord Colwyn's committee which evolved the scheme said that everybody in the trade was now realising that individual effort was not enough.

He laid stress on the importance of dealing with redundancy. If that part of the scheme was rejected, he said, the position

NAVIGATING DANUBE

The International Danube Committee has arranged to engage ice-breakers to clear the Danube during the winter. It is stated that ten ice-breakers will clear the Danube from Vienna to the Black Sea, working in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Rumania. Although freight ships will be enabled to ply all through the winter, passenger steamers will, as hitherto, run only during the summer and autumn.

THE Writing Sensation OF 1934

Reversible Fine Medium Hairline point writes or Broad or Extra fine

PLEASE do not confuse the revolutionary new Parker with ordinary "transparent" pens. Hold the pen to the light, and shimmering jet rings like "mysterious windows," show instantly when to refill! No more running out of ink at important times.

And this scarce marvel, with the Elmatic barrel, actually holds 102% more ink! Yet the size is not increased. The precious platinum and gold point, brilliant tipped, and perfectly formed, writes on each side! And an easier pen to write with you'll never find in this world!

Parker has abolished 14 old-time parts in developing this vacuum-filling fountain pen which is guaranteed mechanically perfect! Never again will you have any trouble with rubber sacs, piston pumps, packing, and other devices. Parker eliminates them all, and gives you a modern fool-proof, vacuum-filling system.

Drop in at the nearest good dealer and ask to see the greatest improvement in writing since the invention of the fountain pen. A marvelous gift for a friend, a member of your family, or yourself!

Parker's QUINE—clean as it is brilliant. Scraps solvent prevents clogging. For all fountain pens.

The development of Stanley as a residential area was referred to at a meeting of the Sanitary Board yesterday, when a retail market for the village was considered.

Pursuant to notice, the Chairman (Mr. R. A. D. Forrest) moved:

That in the opinion of the Board a recommendation should be forwarded to Government for the reservation of a site for a retail market of about 15 stalls in the vicinity of Stanley Village, with ground adjacent for extension.

The Chairman explained that the reason was that Stanley had recently developed as a residential area. A new building scheme was partly advanced, and would be revived at any moment. There was also at the present time a large population in that area, with large numbers of workmen employed on the new Gaul site, and in connection with extensive building works being carried out there. A retail market was needed, and when this was established Stanley would cease to be a purely rural area.

Mr. L. C. F. Bellamy seconded the motion, which was put to the meeting and unanimously adopted.

Kowloon City Amenity.

The Chairman next moved: That in the opinion of the Board the latrine accommodation in the Kowloon City area is inadequate and the Board desires the erection of a permanent flush latrine, containing 32 seats for males, 8 seats for females and 4 urinals, with two sets of quarters and kitchen accommodation for latrine attendants, on the site depicted on the plan by the Director of Public Works dated the 12th October, 1934, i.e. at the junction of Nga Tain Long Road, and Carpenter Road.

This was seconded by Dr. G. W. Pope, and carried.

The remainder of the meeting was of a routine nature.

Present were the President (Mr. R. A. D. Forrest); the Director of Public Works (Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson); the Medical Officer of Health (Dr. G. W. Pope), Mr. M. K. Lo, Mr. L. C. F. Bellamy, Dr. Li Shu-fan, Mr. F. C. Hall, Dr. R. A. Chastano, Mr. C. J. Roe (Secretary) and Mr. Im Ping-tseung (Assistant Secretary).

NOT RIGHT

An important principle is involved in the withdrawal by the police of the case in which three sailors from a French cruiser were charged with resisting arrest and with disorderly conduct. The circumstances which gave rise to the trouble were quite simple. The sailors had engaged sedan chairs at Battery Path to take them to the Peak Tramway station, where they tendered a five-dollar note which the coolies, unable to change, declined to accept. A commotion arose, during which one of the coolies is said to have been assaulted. A European police sergeant then appeared on the scene, and, being unable to make himself understood, attempted to take the sailors to the police station. More trouble arose on the way, and eventually further assistance had to be obtained before the men were locked up. According to a statement made in Court, the sailors were under the influence of liquor at the time. The grounds on which the police withdrew the charges were two—first, that the trouble arose by reason of language difficulties; and, secondly, that an assurance had been received from the captain of the cruiser that the men would be dealt with on board ship for disorderly conduct ashore and for having assaulted the police. Mr. Calthrop, in asking for the withdrawal of the charges, mentioned that the men had no right whatever to refuse to go to the police station. That much admitted, it must surely be added that they had far less right to assault the police. But the point which deserves stressing is that the reasons given for withdrawal of the charges were in no sense adequate. Foreign sailors, of whatever nationality, who come to this Colony must surely be held to be amenable to our laws. They have no right to commit offences of any kind—certainly not to assault the police—and then expect that their punishment should be taken out of the hands of the local authorities. Had the defendants in the case under notice been guilty of misconduct on board their own vessel, the right of the French naval authorities to deal with the case would be beyond dispute, but immediately they set foot on shore they rendered themselves subject to the laws of the Colony and to punishment by the local authorities for any breach thereof. It is, indeed, matter for surprise that the Magistrate before whom the men were brought so readily agreed to the police request, involving an important surrender of rights. The point, as we say, is an important one, and it is to be hoped that in future instances of a similar character no question of the derogation of the authority of the Court will arise.

NOTES OF THE DAY

NEW RACKET

What is apparently a new, or modernised system, of blackbirding is occupying the attention of the authorities in the United States and, it is to be hoped, in Canton. It has been disclosed that an international ring of smugglers is engaged in shipping Chinese into the United States, dodging the Immigration authorities and the Alien Act and making enormous profits out of the business. It is not a new game, this, but it has been played for so long under good cover that the world is only just waking up to what is happening. Formerly the Chinese were generally landed in Mexico and were left to make their way across the frontier from there. But this system has its drawbacks, and now the Chinese are being landed on American soil. It seems that there are still enough Chinese with a few thousand dollars available who are glad to seek their fortunes in America and it is upon these misled unfortunates that the smuggling ring has been preying for some time.

HORRIBLE TREATMENT

The tales of horror told by the recently arrested Cantonese who constituted the "cargo" of one of the smugglers' craft may go far in preventing a continuation of the enterprise. If the people of China were made aware of the treatment to which they are subject by the smugglers, if they knew that they would be pitched overboard in mid-ocean if they showed symptoms of disease, if they knew that they would be robbed at the end of their journey and their friends called upon to pay big ransoms by the gangsters, that they would be in danger of being murdered if this ransom was not forthcoming, then the traffic in this human freight might cease for lack of customers. According to news reports, the present traffic is as bad as that of the slave trading days, except that the smugglers do not care what happens to their "slaves" once they are aboard ship and the slave traders took some pains to keep their charges living. It is to be hoped that the announcement that the heads of the smugglers' ring are known and that they would be arrested shortly has some truth in it. Their detention may not end the traffic for there are probably several gangs involved, but at least it will be a blow to the trade.

"L. G.'S" CRITICISM

Mr. David Lloyd George very outspokenly attacked the policies of Signor Mussolini recently when he said, in part: "Mussolini talks about training the children of Italy from seven upwards to the use of arms. He is going to attune the minds of children to the prospects of slaughter—not of peace, not of goodwill, not of brotherhood, but of killing. If Mussolini's policy is followed by every statesman, on the walls of every school will be written, 'Little children, KILL one another.' It was a typical speech and it drew prolonged applause from the London audience. Mr. Lloyd George knows how to move his hearers. It may be admitted that a certain amount of military training and discipline is good for a school boy, but to put guns into the hands of children and teach them to use them as weapons of war is surely encouraging in them a dangerous, if not fatal, inclination. The psychological effect of such training will be to make each little Italian of the Mussolini school a potential warrior. It is a splendid thought that they may some day emulate those men who made Rome great, but one which may very well cause some apprehensiveness among their neighbours. It is just possible that if Duce has erred.

DOES IT MATTER?

A French scientist, who has died, aged 90, left a long-life prescription to his companion scientist, aged 102. Here, one might think, would be an abstruse theory relating to physical structure in senescence, or at least a thesis on metabolism. But no. He said: "Take a long walk before breakfast." That is a thing we can all do. Similarly, we can drink beer or not drink beer. We can indulge in tobacco or remain non-smokers. We can sleep four hours a day, or twelve. All these contradictions have been uttered solemnly by centenarians. Alfred Earle, Bishop of Marlborough, at the age of 85, said: "Find a safe doctor; rarely take his pills." To-day that counsel might be rendered: "Find a safe scientist; take his advice—when you feel like it."

HOW SPAIN GUARDS AGAINST REVOLT

Madrid, Nov. 1. When extraordinary measures are considered necessary to preserve public order in Spain, either throughout the country or in a certain province or city, the Government is authorised by the Constitution to declare the state of prevention, the state of alarm or the state of war. This latter state is equivalent to martial law.

The powers allowed the government under the state of prevention which has been declared twice this year, are outlined in the law of public order. According to this law, the state of prevention lasts two months, a period which can be extended by decree for one month at a time. At any time the government can end the state of prevention.

Ten days after the termination of the state of prevention, the government will report to the Cortes the use that has been made of the special powers granted it under the law. If the Cortes is not in session, the government will report to the permanent committee of the Cortes. So reads the law of public order.

As soon as the state of prevention comes into force, which is immediately the decree is signed by the President of the Republic, foreigners not established in Spanish territory who have failed to fulfil all the legal regulations can, without formality, be arrested and immediately expelled from the country by order of the governing authority, who is only obliged to report the matter to the Minister of Interior.

Foreigners not established in Spanish territory who disturb public order can be expelled, in spite of any appeal they may make to the Minister of Interior. Foreigners permanently established in Spanish territory come under the same heading as nationals. But if they disturb public order, they can be prosecuted and their expulsion ordered. They, however, are given the right of appeal to the Minister of Interior.

The governing authority can demand two days notice of change of residence, and the destination and itinerary of travellers; appoint delegates to supervise industrial or commercial concerns which are likely to cause a disturbance of public order or in serious cases order the temporary closing down of the concern. It can order all publications, with the exception of books, which defend political or social ideas, to be sent two hours before publication or one hour in the case of daily newspapers, to be stamped; and can take whatever precautions are considered necessary to assure public order at public meetings.

Open air meetings and manifestations can be suspended or postponed by the governing authority when it is considered that they threaten public order. Permission can also be refused to hold them.

It can limit or prohibit traffic in certain places and at certain times, draw up regulations for necessary supplies and public services, prohibit and prevent the closing down of industry or commerce to the point of temporary seizure if necessary, order that strikes be announced five days beforehand if they do not affect the general interest, ten days if they do, and 15 if they affect public works or services.

Prevent strikes in public services and those which do not follow procedures laid down by the law. In cases where attempts are made to disturb public order, such as in strikes, or by the declaration of strikes which are deemed illegal, the civil governors and the Minister of Interior are authorised to impose fines.

The Minister of Interior can impose fines up to 10,000 pesetas and the civil governors up to 5,000 pesetas. The headquarters or centres of the party or association contributing to the causing of public order, either by calling a strike or by any other act, can be closed down and the leaders subjected to the fines as outlined.

In the case of a second offence, these fines may be increased 50 per cent. Appeal against the fines can be made to the Tribunal of Constitutional Guarantees.

If the powers granted under the state of prevention are considered insufficient for the maintenance of public order, the government can, in cases of clear and imminent gravity, suspend the guarantees outlined in articles 29, 31, 34, 38 and 39 of the Constitution.

The Constitution says in article 42 "The rights and guarantees mentioned in articles 29, 31, 34, 38 and 39 can be suspended wholly or partially in all or part of the national territory by government decree. If the Cortes is in session, it will decide on the suspension of the guarantees agreed to by the government. If the Cortes is closed, the government must convolve it in the space of eight days to give an account of its action. If the Cortes is not convolved within the period laid down, they will meet automatically on the ninth day. The Cortes cannot be dissolved before discussing the matter and coming to a decision. If the Cortes is dissolved, the government will report immediately to the permanent commission of the Cortes.

"The period of suspension of constitutional guarantees cannot exceed 30 days. Any extension of the period needs the approval of the Cortes or the permanent commission."

Under the state of alarm, the governing authority can prohibit the formation of groups of any kind or loitering in the public highway. Force may be used to disperse groups after three warnings. "The law of public order" says "The civil authority can submit all publications to previous censorship and in urgent cases order the suspension of publications which incite or assist the commission of offences against public order. Copies of such publications can be confiscated and, together with the persons responsible, sent to the juzgado (court) to be dealt with."

"The civil authority can arrest anybody if it is considered necessary for the preservation of order, although the person may not have committed an offence."

"Persons considered dangerous or suspected of having participated in acts against public order can be compelled to change their place of residence to a distance of not more than 250 kilometres, during the period of duration of the state of alarm."

"The civil authority can enter the home of any Spaniard or foreigner resident in Spain without his consent and examine papers and effects."

The state of alarm allows of heavier fines than those laid down under the state of prevention for disturbance of public order. The

The Very Idea!
NEW YORKERS WANT A LIFT

A shadow has been cast over the skyscrapers of New York by the action of the lift operators in going on strike.

Prosperous business men who have not seen their own feet for years found it convenient to be ill rather than face forty-five flights of stairs, and office boys who arrived at the office at noon had to leave immediately to qualify for their hot dogs and chewing gum.

Senator Loggett interviewed on Sunday at the seventh flight swore that he would bring the Liftmen's Association to its knees rather than give way on a point of principle.

Yesterday the Senator was interviewed going up the forty-third flight on his knees and he remarked then that it was infamous that men of the fine calibre and quality of the members of the Liftmen's Association could not work in unison with their fellows.

The Senator reached his office early this morning and is stated to be as well as could be expected, after receiving an invitation by telephone to become a member of the Lighter Uplift Society. He has ordered his bed to be brought to the office.

Broadway presented a fantastic sight with hundreds of cranes swinging the talpans up to their respective stories.

There was just as much craning in the street below and one modest typist insisted on being hoisted feet upmost to the fifty-second story of Manhattan Building. Her employer who was watching from above was so impressed that he gave her a rise in mid-air.

In local circles it is said that the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation would do well to remain at par but the reply of the manager is that there is another story to that. Paraphrase!

ARRANGEMENT

London, Nov. 6. Answering a Parliamentary question regarding the measures taken to prevent the sale of armaments indiscriminately to foreign countries in the interests of money-making, the Prime Minister, Mr. MacDonald, said the machinery of export licensing ensured effective control over the supply to foreign countries of arms from United Kingdom.

No sale could be made by an armaments firm except to approved destinations and on the grant of export licences by the Board of Trade.—British Wireless.

PIRATED VESSEL

AMOY

News has been received by the local naval authorities to the effect that the Chinese Merchants' steamer Kaho, which was pirated a few days ago, arrived at Amoy yesterday and left at 5 p.m. presumably for Shanghai.

H.M.S. Wishart, which went to the scene of the piracy on escort duty, to render moral support to the Chinese authorities, is returning to Hongkong to-morrow.

The Chinese gunboat Wu Fang is at present operating in Hong Hai Bay in connection with the piracy.

EMPIRE MUSIC
LINKFREE TRAINING FOR BLIND

In connection with the Empire Link Music and Educational Plan, Madame Lottie Gordon writes stating that 52 blind girls at the Pokfulam Home will be taught singing and piano by her. These blind girls commenced their training yesterday. Free training for other missionary homes will also be provided.

The first scholarship awarded under the new plan has been given to Miss Koo Chi, 708, Nathan Road, for piano, singing and elocution for one year. Miss Koo will be taught by Madame Gordon.

The Empress of Japan is due here from Shanghai at 9 a.m. on Friday.

A 10-year-old girl, Lung Leung, living at 20 Bridges Street, attempted to take her life yesterday by taking Lysol. She was in a serious condition when discovered and conveyed to hospital.

"BASIC ENGLISH"

Interesting Talk At Rotary Club

A most interesting talk on "Basic English" was given at the Hongkong Rotary Club till yesterday by Mr. A. B. Reynolds, B.A., Lecturer in English at the Hongkong University. Mr. M. K. Lo presided.

In the course of his talk, Mr. Reynolds said:—"Basic English" is an attempt to give to everyone a second, or international, language, which will take as little of the learner's time as possible. It is a system in which everything may be said for all the purposes of everyday existence: the common interests of men and women, general talk, news, trade, and science. To the eye and ear it will not seem in any way different from normal English, which is now the language of 600,000,000 persons.

ONLY 850 WORDS.

There are only 850 words in the complete list, which may be clearly printed on one side of a piece of note-paper. But simple rules are given for making other words with the help of those in the list; such as design, designing, and designed, from design, or air-plane from air and plane.

Those who have no knowledge of English will be able to make out the sense of a radio talk, or a business letter, after a week with the word-list and the records; but it may be a month or two before talking and writing are possible. An Englishman will make an adjustment to Basic ways of thought in a very short time, but at first he will have to take some trouble to be clear and simple.

In fact, it is the business of all internationally-minded persons to make Basic English part of the system of education in every country, so that there may be less chance of war, and less learning of languages—which, after all, for most of us, are a very unnecessary waste of time.

INTERNATIONAL VALUE.

After discussing various uses of Basic in public and private affairs, its value as an instrument of peace and understanding, and its advantages over other possible means of international communication, the speaker concluded:

Industry in all its branches can no longer be limited to one nation; it must be international if it is to have any growth. Take a look at the growth of radio and the developments which would be possible with the use of an international language. Telephones, "talkies," newspapers will give much more profit in international harmony as well as in money when Basic is the selected second language of all nations. When Basic is general in Hongkong and the Morning Post and the number of readers will go up so much that the Morning Post will have a building ten times as big as the new Bank and the Telegraph will make an agreement with the C.P.R. for Hongkong sportsmen to have the use of the Empress of Britain for all their journeys to Shanghai, and nobody will ever be made ill by the journey again.

The adoption of Basic English in Hongkong Government schools would give much-needed time for things which are more important to a great number of the boys and girls learning English by the present method, and would give a good base to those who go on to normal English. The education authorities might well make a start without loss of time.

USEFUL BOOK.

If you have any interest in international relations; if you have any interest in inter-national industries; if you have any business or private friends with whom you cannot have a natural discussion because of language troubles, take a look at "The A.B.C. of Basic English" by C. K. Ogden. You can get it and other books like it at Kelly and Walsh and its price is only $2.25. It will take you three or four days to get a full knowledge of Basic; it will take a person who has no knowledge of English three or four months. "Take a bite of Basic English with your breakfast in the morning!"

Hongkong is in the middle between East and West. Work is being done in Europe, and in Japan; some work is being done in Hongkong but not enough. If anybody present or not present has any desire for more discussion of Basic or if anybody has any desire to see Chinese boys getting a knowledge of Basic, I shall be happy to have his name, and I have no doubt that the Salesian Fathers will be happy as I shall to have the company of anybody interested at the very good school in which the work is being done.

Before I take my seat, let me give you one verse from the Basic English account of the story of Daniel—"and the Lord said, See the people is one, and they have all one language, and they are doing this; and now everything which they have in mind to do will be possible for them."

HOW SPAIN GUARDS
AGAINST REVOLT

Minister of the Interior is authorised to impose fines up to 20,000 pesetas and civil governors up to 10,000 pesetas. For second offences, these can be increased by 50 per cent.

Should the civil authority, having used the powers granted under the state of prevention and alarm, find itself even with the aid of the military, unable to cope with some movement or agitation, martial law may be proclaimed. The civil authority, which is usually the Governor, is authorised to give public warning by means of a proclamation and then communicate immediately with the judicial and military authority. Then he can prepare the immediate declaration of martial law.

Only the government can declare martial law throughout an autonomous region.

If the civil governor is not available and danger is imminent, the local judge, the mayor and the military commander can declare martial law.

When there is danger of agitation spreading, the government decides the area that has to be submitted to martial law.

Under the state of war, the military authority has the same powers as the civil authority under the state of prevention and alarm.

After the publication by the military authority of proclamation calling on the rebels to desist in their attitude, groups can be dissolved by force and anybody on the scene of combat arrested. Any corporation employee is obliged to assist the civil or military authority in suppressing the sedition under penalty of losing his job.

Once the rebellion is put down, the law of public order lays down that the military authority shall proceed to the formation of courts martial.

However, the ending of the state of war can only be decided by the unanimous vote of the authorities who declared it. If there is only a majority vote, then the government decides the matter.

When martial law is declared, the government is obliged according to the constitution to report the matter to the Cortes in the period of eight days. Extension beyond the period of 30 days is decided by the Cortes, or if it is dissolved, by the permanent commission of the Cortes.—United Press.

WHY KNEE-ACTION WHEELS?

HERE ARE THE FACTS ON CHEVROLET KNEE-ACTION

Each front wheel is independently sprung, "stepping over" bumps with easy riding action. Knee Action wheels make the back seat as restful as the front, eliminating "back seat pitch."

The Chevrolet type of Knee Action is much safer, permitting faster speeds on rough roads and preventing the car from "swaying" or "skidding."

Water, ice and stones cannot affect Chevrolet's Knee Action. Chevrolet Knee-Action permits the wheels to move straight up and down, preventing "tyre scrubbing" and giving longer tyre life.

The next morning!

In such cases take only 'Gardan'. The tormenting headache, the undesired consequences of the carousal last night will disappear rapidly and certainly. 'Gardan' can be taken even on an empty stomach without producing unpleasant by-effects.

The following good advice of one who knows will prove very useful to you in future: When you have spent happy hours with friends, take 'Gardan' even before going to bed! 'Gardan' will display its action whilst you sleep and next morning you will awake with a clear head, because 'Gardan' not only relieves pain, it also prevents it.

Stoke's Important Part In London Football

Stoke has played an important part in the rise of London football. They were original members of the League, and even in their successful days they counted a gate of 6,000 a good one. Receipts for the season then amounted to about £3,000. Now they are ten times more.

The change is undoubtedly due to the widening of interest. Motor-cars and charabancs were parked in the streets round the ground in hundreds. Soon the club will have their own park to accommodate 400 cars and 100 charabancs. To-day Stoke draw their supporters from a radius of 30 miles.

It is perhaps not generally appreciated, but the development of motor transport has been the biggest factor in the making of the thousands of converts to the game.

There is one page in the history of the Stoke club of the greatest significance. Their disaster in 1908, when they were wound up and had to make a fresh start in the Birmingham League, was the first brick in the building of the London stronghold as we know it to-day.

The dropping out of Stoke was Tottenham Hotspur's opportunity, and they were elected to fill the vacancy in the Second Division. Big football in London really dates from this time, for although Woolwich Arsenal were the pioneers it was not until the Hotspurs were launched in the League that the interest of the public was captured.

To-day the Stoke club are in a stronger position than ever before. Their fine ground, still with its quaint old cricket pavilion tucked away in the corner, will hold well over 60,000 people, and a large proportion are under cover. Better still, they have a young team of great promise under the guidance of Bob McGrory, who at his age still plays remarkably. It was his birthday a fortnight ago—and well he must be the oldest man in first-class football. He is assistant manager to Mr. Tom Mather, under whose control the wonderful revival of the club has taken place.

If Hunt, the Tottenham Hotspur centre-forward had connected with the ball there would have been a goal, but as the picture revealed, Sagar, the Everton custodian got there first, and Hunt sailed gracefully through the air over the shoulders of the goalkeeper. This was an incident during a recent match at White Hart Lane.

THIRD DIV. TEAMS STICK TO THEIR STAR PLAYERS

NOT SO READY TO TRANSFER THEM

SPLENDID POLICY OF ALOOFNESS WHICH SHOULD HELP

The big topic in football circles at the moment is the transfer of players, writes a correspondent in the Daily Mail. There is great activity behind the scenes in the Southern Section of the Third Division, and the demand for the star men by First Division clubs is very satisfactory. We could not have a clearer reminder of the vast improvement in the standard of football in the Southern Section.

But I am glad to discover that clubs are not parting with their best men as readily as in previous years.

Hitherto it has been the policy of the clubs to develop their players with a view to transferring them. Experiences within the last two weeks have I think provided good evidence of a new determination in the clubs to keep their players. Indeed, they are ready, should it prove possible, to strengthen their own weaknesses.

This policy is a sound one.

BIG TEMPTATION. Nobody realises more clearly than I how sorely tempted a Third Division club can be when a big cheque is dangled before the eyes for the transfer of a star player. But I am convinced that many of the clubs are now suffering from the effects of a policy which, in the past, has resulted in the sale of good players year after year and consequent loss of interest by the supporters who have given up hope of the club ever achieving anything in football.

If we can only maintain the policy of aloofness for a season or two and let the Arsenal and the Chelsea keep their big money, then the much maligned Third Division will go on improving. And the bigger crowds that have been attracted to matches this season will continue to attend.

As the manager of one of the leading clubs in the Southern Section whose gates are averaging over 18,000, I may not be considered in a position to advise, I am convinced, however, that we must keep our best players if the competition is to advance. We can keep at home those spectators who now travel to see First and Second Division games.

Nothing more quickly destroys the confidence and morale of a club's supporters than the departure of star players. A transfer fee of £2,000 or £3,000 for a player may ease the financial burden for the time being, but the policy is a short-sighted one. It has its inevitable repercussions in dwindling gates.

SUCCESS EXPLAINED.

The success of the two top clubs at the moment, Coventry and Charlton, is a direct result of the refusal of both clubs to part with their best players. Coventry, I feel sure, must be tired of turning down offers for at least three of their forwards. Bourton, Lake, and Lauderdale have been approved by the bigger clubs as likely candidates for a rise in status;

PERVERSION OF FACTS ALLEGED

"VERITAS" PILLORIED FOR LAST WEEK'S COMMENTARY

SEQUEL TO WITHDRAWAL FROM THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Further correspondents have rushed to defend the action of the Young Indians in withdrawing from the Football League, which action was criticised by "Veritas" in the Telegraph last Saturday. "Veritas" in a letter published below contends that the Telegraph commentator mis-stated the facts in arriving at an unfair conclusion. A letter has also been received from "Sports," publication of which is held over until tomorrow in view of the pressure on space.

Accompanying this letter to-morrow, "Veritas" will reply to his critics, and endeavour to justify his article of last week.

The Sports Editor,
The Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir:—The hysterical vein in which "Veritas" condemned the Young Indians Football Club, in your Saturday's issue, for having withdrawn from the Second Division League not only showed his one-sided reasoning, but also made very disappointing reading from one on whom I had learned to regard as an unbiased authority on Local football topics. His apparent disregard for or ignorance of the real facts that led the Young Indians to take a step, which honestly was as distasteful to them as it was to the Football Association, has brought me to join issue with him.

I, therefore, appeal to you, in fairness to the Young Indians, to give this as much prominence as you did "Veritas."

The attitude adopted by the Emergency Committee, to say the least, is indeed very arbitrary. At the enquiry over the incident of the Hongkong Football Club-Young Indians match, the referee stated that he actually stopped the game and warned both TEAMS for having adopted rough and dangerous tactics and also warned Mr. Baker once before he had to send this player from the field of play. This, Sir, was most emphatically denied by the Young Indians' representative at the said enquiry. Yet, no further steps were taken by the Committee to verify these statements but, taking the referee's word as absolute truth, they (the Committee members) took a serious view of this particular incident and suspended Mr. Baker for two months.

The referee, perhaps knowing the full backing he would receive from the authorities, made statements which were challenged by the Young Indians. In all common justice the enquiry should have been adjourned for further evidence to prove the truth or untruth of those statements. But instead the Committee passed judgment as above and also warned the unfortunate Young Indians that the next time one of its members is brought up before this Committee, the WHOLE TEAM would be suspended from further participation in local football.

I would like to question this Committee's right and authority from which it assumes in making this drastic intimation. It has, may be, the privilege to recommend but certainly not the right to suspend.

NOT SUCH A BAD RECORD.

As one who has been connected with local football both officially and unofficially for the past twenty years and over let me assure "Veritas" that the past record of the Young Indians is not as bad as those of some of the youngest members of the Hongkong Football Association and yet repetition of ungentlemanly conduct by players from such clubs never brought forward any kind of warning from the Council or any other body of the Association, leave alone the Emergency Committee.

How many games, in which the Young Indians took part, has "Veritas" ever witnessed? The writer, having heard the supposedly bad reputation of this team, made it a point of attending some of the Young Indians' games and could quote instances of where the faults lie.

In the match against the Royal Artillery no cleaner game could have been wished for. Why? Because both teams played according to the rules of football and not according to physical advantages.

At the match against the Royal Engineers, in the first fifteen minutes no less than four fouls were given and these were all against the latter for unfair charging. Coupled, therefore, say that the Young Indians are unfit to take part in any local football competition?

"Veritas" emphasised that if the Young Indians were dissatisfied with Emergency Committee's decision, they have the right to appeal to the Council of the Association. Does he know that last year a member of the present Emergency Committee told the Young Indians at an enquiry, when the latter protested against, and intimated that they would appeal against, this Committee's sentence of four weeks on one of its members, that if "they appealed they would get six weeks and not four?"

Smarting under the sting of such a threat, what is the earthly use of appealing against the present sentence?

UNFORTUNATE INFLUENCE.

It appears rather unfortunate that the Indian team figured in several matches in which some of its opponents were brought up for hitting an opponent or for ungentlemanly conduct. But this certainly should not influence the Committee against that and thus place the blame on the team.

I can safely say that the methods adopted by some of the Young Indians' opponents and also the "mistakes" made by some of the referees should have been brought to the notice of the Council, and that some of the officials seen the Young Indians in action they would have found for themselves that this team of young and promising players is not as bad as reports painted it to be.

In considering the fact that one Kowloon player was suspended for four weeks for actually hitting another player, one Navy player was cautioned for hitting a Young Indian player, one South China 1st XI player for kicking an opponent was warned and a member of the Railway team was suspended for an offence of a name that culminated in the referee

McAvoy In Line For World Title Bout

BRITISH MIDDLEWEIGHT GOOD PROPOSITION

PROMOTERS' TEMPTATION TO YAROSZ

By Geoffrey Simpson.

There is an excellent prospect that Jock McAvoy, the British middle-weight boxing champion, will before long fight for the world title.

It is also probable that the contest will take place in England. At the moment two of our promoters are in the market, and one of the other is likely to tempt Teddy Yarosz, the American claimant to the title, to come here to fight.

The more one sees of McAvoy and his smashing body punching the more one is led to believe that in this young Lancashire middle-weight England possesses possibly the finest 11st. 6lb. boxer in the world.

His 71-second knock-out of the Belgian Etienne in Manchester last month was only one of his many lightning victories this year. The improvement he has made since he took the middle-weight championship from Len Harvey is astonishing, and there are people now ready to support him to the limit in his bid for the world title.

Mr. Fred Shaw, a Cheshire sportsman and friend of McAvoy, announced recently his willingness to lodge $2,000 with the Board of Control for the Rochdale pugilist to meet any middle-weight in the world.

But of more importance is the news that the Belle Vue, Manchester, promoters have made their biggest offer so far for Yarosz to visit England and oppose McAvoy.

BIGGER OFFER.

Negotiations have been proceeding for some time. The first offer to the American was rejected, but in view of McAvoy's recent performances a much larger bid has been made. The amount is not disclosed, but it may be assumed that about $5,000 would be needed to tempt Yarosz to make the trip.

Mr. "Jimmy" Johnston, who is not having a very successful time at Madison-square Garden, is very much interested in the match and has cabled an offer to McAvoy, but this fantastic sum will not lightly be surrendered by Manchester, and London, too, in the person of Mr. Jeff Dickson, will bid for it.

THE BRITISH TITLE.

McAvoy's future so far as the English boxers of his class are concerned is decidedly dismal. He is due to defend his British championship against Al Burke, the London-born Australian, whom he will stop in quick time. But after that, what then?

There is not an English-born 11st. 6lb. man worth matching with McAvoy. Even Marcel Thil, the official world champion, will have none of him.

America claims Yarosz as the champion, he having beaten Vince Dundee, so that if McAvoy can get a verdict over him it will mean something. Thil would have to fight him then.

McAvoy is one of the fittest men in England—a non-smoker and teetotaler, though he is the proprietor of a public-house—and he is rated so highly by his backers that they are sincere in their belief that he can beat Jack Petersen.

"Pa" Petersen scoffed at this proposal when it was first made, but McAvoy's representative informed me that their $1,000 challenge to Petersen still holds good.

Personally, I am more interested in the Yarosz proposal, and it is to be hoped the present negotiations will be successful.

CLUB'S SENIOR ELEVEN.

The following have been selected to play for the Hongkong Hockey Club in their match against the 1st. Batt. South Wales Borderers on the Club Ground at 5 p.m. to-day:—G. L. Gregory; J. Hodger (Capt.) and E. V. Reed; G. Sommers, W. A. Reed and J. L. Tetley; N. A. E. Mackay, H. O. Brumby, A. T. Loy, A. A. R. Botelho and J. W. Pote-Hunt.

IN DEFENCE OF THE YOUNG INDIANS

taking the most serious step of abandoning the game, the sentence of eight weeks on Mr. Baker was indeed unjust and not in accordance with the severity of the alleged foul. Perhaps this only shows the prejudiced mentality of the Emergency Committee and it would be interesting to know if the same warning given to the Young Indians was given to any of the players who, as our friend "Y-nias" could enlighten us on this point.

NO OTHER ALTERNATIVE.

In withdrawing from the league the Young Indians did it more as an act of desperation forced on by the attitude continuously adopted by the Emergency Committee rather than as an act of heroism. They were left with no other alternative but to withdraw from the league.

By the way, the writer can recall an occasion on which a very prominent soccer club once, identified with the decision of a committee of the Association, withdrew from the league and considerable influence was brought into the controversy at the time with the result that the said Committee's decision was squashed and the Club concerned re-instated.

Of course, the Young Indians Football Club is not such an influential member of the Association and no such support would be expected, but I do appeal to all sensible minded of the Association as well as to "Y-nias" to go further into this unfortunate matter and I am fully confident of a just ending to an incident which is resented by all well-wishers of local football.

SERIAL STORY

The Clue Of The Forgotten Murder:

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

CHAPTER ONE (Continued.)

Tom Carson, of the detective bureau, was killing time until the men from the service station would arrive to make the identification. He looked up as Morden entered the room and nodded. Then he turned back to the tall, somewhat paunchy individual who sat on a wooden bench, his shoulders slightly stooped, his eyes nervously flicking about the room. On a chair nearby sat a girl with eyes that were dark, wary and watchful.

Morden swept the girl with an appreciative eye, waited until her glance rested upon his face, and smiled. After a moment she returned the smile.

Tom Carson looked over at the man and said in a weary voice, "You're talking just the way they all of them talk. If I had a nickel for every guy who said that, I wouldn't have to work. You say your address is 732 Maple avenue. Then, when we prove you don't live there, you say you're John Smith of Riverview, and that you gave us a fake name and address because you didn't want to be involved in a lot of scandal. The girl claims she's a hitch-hiker and hasn't any home; that you picked her up, and..."

"That's right," said the man.

"Shut up," Carson said. "I'll ask you questions when I want you to talk."

The man wet his lips nervously with the tip of his tongue and shifted his eyes to the girl. The girl sidged in her chair, suddenly looked over to Carson and correctly interpreted the cool humor of his gaze. "Honest to God!" she said. "If I knew anything about him I'd tell you. I'm telling you the God's own truth. I was just walking and wasn't even giving the drivers a tumble when this fellow pulled his monster in along side the curb and asked me if I didn't want a lift. I told him I didn't, and he put the car in low gear and crawled along..."

The telephone rang.

Carson held the receiver to his ear, nodded his head and then looked across at the man on the bench.

"Now," he said, "we're getting somewhere."

He spoke into the transmitter, "That's all the dope you've got?"

He nodded, slipped the receiver back into place, wrote rapidly on a sheet of paper, then looked up at the man.

"All right, Mr. Frank B. Cathay, suppose you tell us the truth?"

The man on the bench did not wince. His eyes shifted slightly, as though concentrating in swift thought.

"You got that name from the place where I rented the car, didn't you?" he said.

Carson's manner was the manner of a cat torturing a mouse.

"Why?" he asked with smirking innocence. "Was that the name you gave when you rented the car?"

The man on the bench nodded.

"All right," he said, "there's no use keeping up the pretence any more. I'm Frank B. Cathay of Riverview."

He got to his feet, took a card case from his hip pocket, opened the card case, showed driving licences, lodge card memberships, golf club cards.

The telephone rang again. Carson pressed the receiver against his left ear, propped his left elbow on the desk.

"Yeah, this is headquarters. Carson speaking. No, I know now that it's a bum steer. But how about a chap named Cathay? Seems to be rather a big bug with membership in a lot of country clubs, and..."

Oh, he is, is he? That's interesting. I'll get that name from the office of city councillor, huh? President of a luncheon club, huh? Director of a bank, huh? Well, he's held here

—well, he's just being held for questioning, that's all. Thanks... I see... uh huh... all right—thanks."

He hung up the telephone and looked at the man on the bench with a new-found respect.

"Why the hell didn't you come clean in the first place?" he asked.

"I couldn't afford to. I can't afford to get mixed into this. I can't afford to get any notoriety."

"You should have come clean in the first place," he said. "You were only picked up on suspicion. Let's just check your identity. What's your address in Riverview?"

The man spoke without hesitation. "My address is at 286 Walnut avenue. My telephone number is Main 6831. My office is in the First National Bank building. I have suite 908—a suite of five rooms occupying the entire front of the ninth floor."

"What do you do?" asked Carson.

"I supervise my investments," the man said with dignity.

Charles Morden sauntered from the room. At the doorway he paused with the door open just a crack.

"Do me a favour, Tom, will you?" he said.

Tom Carson turned his head and raised his eyebrows.

"Hold him for 15 minutes," Morden said, and slammed the door before Carson could say anything.

He raced down the corridor to the press room, thrust his head in the door and saw that Whipple of The Planet was seated at his desk, bent on going down the corridor until he came to a telephone booth. He entered the booth, and as he pulled the door shut, the light clicked on. Morden reached up and extinguished the light by unscrewing the globe a half turn. There remained enough light which filtered in through the glass which partitioned the top of the door to enable him to drop the coin and dial the number of The Blade.

"Listen, cutie," he said, "put me on with Roy, yeah, I know."

Never mind that stuff.

"Sure, the invitation is good, but forget it. This is business. I'm using a nickel of my own money."

Hello, Roy, this John Smith case has busted wide open. I'm telephoning from a booth in the corridor. Whipple of The Planet is on duty in the press room. He's just got the memo that was handed out from the desk, and the thing has gone into The Planet as an ordinary John Smith, suspicion of driving while intoxicated, but the man isn't John Smith at all. He's a big shot in Riverview, a man by the name of Cathay—C-a-t-h-a-y... that's right. Frank B. Cathay of Riverview. He lives at 286 Walnut avenue, has offices in the First National Bank building, is a banker and candidate for city council.

Tom Carson is handling the investigation, and Tom has fallen like a ton of brick for the big banking business. Tom figures the man's got political connections here. He can work if he wants to. Cathay is going to pay a hundred bucks to get eased out the back door and have the whole thing dropped. Carson can do it because no charge was made. The guy was just picked up on suspicion, mostly suspicion of being mixed up in the service station stick-up. I heard him when he kicked through and came clean. He's got his card case with him, with his membership cards, his driving licence and all of that stuff, and Carson will have him verify the signature that's on his lodge cards and operator's licence, just in order to make certain he's got the right man... you can put in a call for Mrs. Cathay at Riverview and get a statement out of her... How do I know he's going to buy his way out? Hell, how do I know this call is costing me a nickel? If you want him held long enough to get a photographer over here you've got to bring some pressure to bear on Carson and do it right now."

Morden slipped the receiver back into place, left the telephone booth and started down the corridor toward the room where Carson was holding Frank B. Cathay. He had taken less than half a dozen steps from the telephone booth when Whipple of The Planet emerged.

"Where you been, guy?" he asked.

"Just fooling around, stretching my legs," Morden told him.

Whipple's gaze became more suspicious. He walked past Morden directly to the telephone booth and jerked the door shut. The switch clicked, but the light did not come on. Morden had neglected to screw the bulb back into position. Whipple reached up, twisted the globe, and the light came on.

Whipple jerked open the door and ran down the corridor to the press room. He picked up his telephone and shouted into it, "Hold everything! Morden of The Blade has picked up something hot. I don't know what it is. Let me find out."

Morden, standing in the door of the press room, lit a cigarette and grinned mockingly.

"You're sure a suspicious cuss," he said. "My city editor would can me for that."

"For what?" asked Whipple.

"Holding up the paper on a bum steer," Morden said.

"I'm not so certain it's a bum one," Whipple told him. He called the desk sergeant, called the radio broadcaster, even called the various precinct houses, without learning anything.

Morden, afraid to leave the room, dropped into his chair, put his feet up on the battered desk and smoked placidly.

ARMISTICE DAY

LOCAL OBSERVANCE ARRANGEMENTS

In connection with the observance of Armistice Day, next Sunday, the usual ceremony at the Hongkong Cenotaph will be carried out.

All troops and representative bodies are expected to be in their positions by 10.45 a.m. Following the arrival of the Officer Commanding, Royal Air Force, the Senior Naval Officer, H. E. the General Officer Commanding, the Clergy and the Choir, H. E. the Governor, Sir William Peel, will arrive at the Cenotaph.

Two minutes later the massed buglers of the Lincolnshire Regiment and the South Wales Borderers will sound the "Last Post."

The Two Minutes Silence will be observed at 11 o'clock, preceded and followed by a gun fired by one of His Majesty's Ships.

The "Reveille" will then be sounded by the buglers of the Lincolnshire Regiment and the South Wales Borderers, and immediately after the last sound has died away, the hymn "O Valiant Hearts" will be sung. This will be followed by prayer and the Blessing by the clergy, and the National Anthem.

Wreath Laying.

On conclusion of the hymn, His Excellency the Governor will lay a wreath, followed by the General Officer Commanding, the Senior Naval Officer, the Senior Air Force Officer, the Royal Merchant Navy representatives, a representative of the Chinese community, a representative of the Consular body, and representatives of foreign Navies and Armies should they so desire.

After the departure of Their Excellencies the Governor and the G. O. C. and officials, wreaths may be laid by private individuals.

In connection with the ceremony, special accommodation for three hundred persons is being reserved to the north of the Law Courts. Application for tickets should be made before November 3, to the

DEMOCRATS SURE OF VICTORY IN U.S. ELECTION

THIRTY MILLION GO TO POLLS

SOLID SUPPORT FOR "NEW DEAL"

DEMOCRATS' STEADY MARCH TO CONGRESS

SURPRISES ARE FEW (SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, Nov. 7, 12.52 p.m.)

New York, Nov. 6.

Thus far, according to the latest figures, 114 Democrats and twelve Republicans have been elected to the House of Representatives. It is also known that the Democrat Governor of New York is re-elected and that the trend of the polls is distinctly pro-New Deal. The Democrats will have a solid majority in Congress.

These are facts from the front. There are other facts, less pleasant for contemplation by the Administration. Seven men have been slain in election feuds of one sort or another, five of them machine-gunned in Pennsylvania, one more killed in Missouri and another in Kentucky.

Thirty million persons are believed to have voted, 2,000,000 of whom were in California where the Sinclair-Merriam race for the governorship is being fought. It is believed that Merriam (Republican) has the early advantage.

Although the Democrats are sure of victory, the multiple issues make it impossible to interpret the result as an accurate barometer of public opinion where the New Deal is concerned.

JOHNSON ELECTED.

Senator Hiram Johnson, San Francisco Republican, was re-elected, together with Senator Park Trammell, Democrat, of Florida, and Representatives McDuffie, Bankhead, Stengall, Patman, Rayburn and Summers.

In New York Governor Lehman was re-elected and Senator Copeland was returned.

EARLY ASSURANCE.

New York, Nov. 6. President Franklin D. Roosevelt has won a clear "right of way" for the New Deal for another two-year period as a result of the elections in forty-seven states today. This is conceded even by the Republican "strong men" who watched the early returns here, telling in a steadily increasing majority for Democrats from the Eastern and Middle Western States.

The election appeared to be following the predictions of political observers, and except in a very few cases the early voting was pro-Democrat.

The nation went to the poll amid a welter of charges and counter-charges by both sides of intimidation, violence, illegal registrations of voters, and other breaches of the Electoral Law.

Accusations of high-handedness were hurled against police, deputy United States marshals and sheriffs, and there were numerous arrests, notably in Pennsylvania, where feeling is very bitter after the affair at Hazelton.

Four people died of wounds inflicted by the ruthless machine-gunners who opened fire on a parade of Democrats just outside Hazelton.

These were not the only deaths in election feuds. At West Union, Ohio, a sixty-year-old man was shot dead in an election quarrel. He was the seventh person killed in political fights during the last 24 hours.

Early scattered returns from the East and mid-West, including Massachusetts, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan and New Hampshire, indicate that a heavy vote is being

NAVAL LIMITATIONS PACT ESSENTIAL

OLD TREATIES NOW DOOMED

COMPETITIVE IDEAS MUST BE DROPPED

BRITISH STAND FOR CHINA'S INTEGRITY

London, Nov. 6.

The fact that there is little hope of the Washington Naval Treaty escaping Japanese denunciation before December 31, says the Times, makes the present conversations all the more desirable in view of the necessity of drafting a new statute of limitations to replace the out-worn treaty next year.

The dominating British consideration is that even if the negotiations end in a break-down, Great Britain would not be at all disturbed by a resultant large increase in the American building programme, for an Anglo-American war is unthinkable.

This does not mean that the British Empire and America desire to present a united front to Japan. What matters is that the three major naval powers should eliminate all competition in the matter of size of ships and guns.

CHINA'S INTEGRITY.

Whatever new arrangements are negotiated it is impossible to see how they can diverge from the principle of security and integrity for China, upon which the Washington Treaty provisions, dealing with Pacific fortifications and policy in China, are based.

BRITISH PLAN.

London, Nov. 6. A formula by which the present naval conversations may be safely continued was suggested by Sir John Simon, the guardian of the British interests at the London parley, when he had an interview with Mr. Norman Davis, chief of the United States delegates, to-day.

Sir John emphasised the fact that the British Government desired to see an understanding reached which would enable the 1935 Naval Conference to be called with some hope of success.

Mr. Davis informed the British Foreign Minister that the American delegation of experts was prepared to continue the talks on the new basis that Sir John has in mind.

After this assurance of American support for the British endeavour, the naval talks will reopen with full delegation conferences this week.—Reuter.

SIMON MEETS DAVIS.

London, Nov. 6. In continuation of the naval discussion Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary, had interview with Mr. Norman Davis, the chief United States representative, at the House of Commons this afternoon.—British Wireless.

The following ships are expected to be in wireless communication with Hongkong to-day:—Kawing, Kaishan, Tai Lee, An Shing, Paul Doumer, Canton, Patroclus, Yaukuni Maru, Tashima Maru, Shantung, Talyo Maru, Talma, Unling, Lveemoon, Agamemnon, Ardent, Seletan, Tainan.

Lord Snowden.

SHOWS DISTRESS DURING SPEECH

Physical Strain Too Great

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 7, 5.05 a.m.)
London, Nov. 6. Some alarm is felt among the friends of Lord Snowden for the health of the veteran statesman.

The physical strain of a long speech leaves its mark upon him. He was defending Codrington, pointing home his usual powerful arguments for Free Trade at the Cobden Club at the time, when he was guest of honour at a luncheon meeting, together with Lady Snowden. Suddenly, towards the end of the address, the 70-year-old statesman commenced to show signs of physical distress.

He appeared to lose the thread of his sentences and occasionally passed his hand wearily over his forehead.

Lady Snowden watched her husband's pain with growing anxiety, and finally interrupted him saying: "Sit down, my dear. You are not well."

Lord Snowden, then paused a few seconds and ended his speech with a brief sentence. He subsequently recovered, however, and smoked a cigarette before leaving.—Reuter Special.

STRIKE IN SPAIN

PROTEST OVER EXECUTIONS

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 7, 9.05 a.m.)
Madrid, Nov. 6. Syndicalists have declared another general strike throughout Spain as a protest against the execution of two leaders of the recent revolt.

It is feared that there may be further serious disorders. The last uprising was only quelled by battle and there was heavy loss of life on both sides. In some sections of Spain, various are still at large and their bombings and dynamite have caused the Government much embarrassment.—United Press.

JAPAN DENIES RESPONSIBILITY

VON PAPEN'S MISSION

Reconciliation Desired

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 7, 8.30 a.m.)

Klagenfurt, Nov. 6. The reconciliation of Austria and Germany was the task entrusted to him by the late President von Hindenburg, declared Herr von Papen when speaking at a meeting of the German colony here to-day.

Herr von Papen was sent to Vienna as an agent of peace following the abortive Nazi putsch and the assassination of Chancellor Dollfuss, following which relations with Germany became dangerously strained.—Reuter Special.

ANOTHER LABOUR VICTORY

SWEEPS SCOTLAND AT POLLS

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

London, Nov. 6. As in England, Labour candidates swept Scotland when the people selected their representatives for municipal offices to-day. In almost every district the Labour candidates piled up a majority.

The standing of the parties now is as follows:
Labour and L.L.P. 65
Moderates 46
Protestant League 5
In Glasgow Labour, with six gains, has now a clear Town Council majority of fourteen, while with four gains in Dundee and three at Motherwell the policy of the party was again vindicated. The victory at Motherwell gives the city its first Labour Council.—Reuter.

CAN CUT TIME TO AUSTRALIA

BRITISH FLIER'S FORECAST

VALUE OF WIRELESS

London, Nov. 6. When Cathcart Jones and Kenneth Waller, who flew to Australia and back to England in 13 days, were entertained at the City Club to-day, Jones expressed the view that 13 days was slow time. "We should be able to do it in four days there and four days back, without slightest strain on the machine or the personnel," he said.

He added their flight would have been much easier with wireless equipment.—British Wireless.

No Part In Manchukuo Monopoly

TOKYO REPLIES TO AMERICA

ATTITUDE UNCHANGED

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, November 7, 8.30 a.m.)

Washington, Nov. 6. The Department of the Secretary of State has received from Mr. Grew, the American Ambassador at Tokyo, a cabled summary of Japan's note to the United States regarding the proposed oil monopoly in Manchukuo.

Officials have not yet studied the document, however, and are not prepared to issue any statement or make any comment.

They will merely say that the Japanese note reiterates the argument that Japan cannot accept responsibility for the Manchukuo action and invites the United States to treat directly with Manchukuo.

The United States has already intimated that it will not accept this apparent endeavour on the part of Japan to shift the burden of responsibility in the monopoly matter. The States Department insists that it will not discuss the position with the Manchukuo authorities but will demand from Japan an explanation of the whole proceeding and hold her responsible for what is considered an unfulfilled treaty obligation.—United Press.

SILVER EXPORT RESTRICTED

VIRTUAL EMBARGO IN SHANTUNG

Tsinan, Nov. 7.

The Shantung Provincial Government has adopted a new regulation designed to restrict the outflow of silver from Shantung, which will virtually place an embargo on silver exports. The new regulation will be put into effect immediately at various important centres, including Tientsin.

The Shantung Provincial Government has obtained approval from the Nanking Ministry of Finance in taking this decision.—Central News.

RUMANIA TRADE DIFFICULTIES

REPRESENTATIONS BY BRITAIN

London, Nov. 6. In the House of Commons, the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Runciman, said representations have been made to the Rumanian Government regarding the delay in providing foreign exchange to meet commercial debts due to British exporters, and restrictions placed on trade with Rumania.

The matters were receiving the earnest consideration of the British Government.—British Wireless.

While driving his car in Hennessy Road, Wanchai, yesterday, Mr. G. T. Padgett, of the Hongkong Electric Company, endeavoured to avoid a Chinese who had got into his way. The man, however, was knocked down, and received injuries reported to be of a minor nature at the Government Civil Hospital, where he was taken after the accident.

THE NAUGHTY CHILD

Your naughty child is not always so blame-worthy as he seems. Like us 'grown-ups,' he is subject to occasional disorganization of the digestive processes which are trying to the nerves, spirits and temper.

Why you see that your little one is 'out-of-sorts,' moody, fractious, ill-tempered, remember that most likely his stomach is out-of-order, or his teeth are bothering him, or may-be he is constipated, bilious, or worried with worms. In any such case all he needs is a dose of Baby's Own Tablets to quickly set him right.

A medical child-specialist's prescription: Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed absolutely safe and good for even the youngest infant in arms. Your chemist or medicine dealer can supply you with.

POLITICAL JUNGLE

"ONLY JUST TIME" TO STOP WAR

LLOYD GEORGE'S WARNING

THE world of to-day is a jungle, and the nations are prowling through it, snarling, and baring their teeth at each other.

This was one of the points made by Mr. Lloyd George in uttering a warning against war when he presided at a gathering in the City Temple, E.C., to welcome Dr. Norwood on his return from his world-tour.

"Have you read," he asked his audience, "that extraordinary speech of Signor Mussolini, the greatest realist in Europe, a man of genius, a man of force, a man of great constructive ability, a man who has got his eye on the conditions? He talks about training the children of Italy from seven upwards to the use of arms."

"Henceforth if that policy is to be followed by every statesman in the world, you will have a scroll on the walls of every school, 'Little children kill one another.'"

"Any moment a mistaken gesture or a misunderstood arrangement may make the nations spring again at each other's throats and tear and rend each other."

"Not yet, not yet! They are licking their wounds now, they are refilling their veins, they have not recovered their strength."

"I have had an experience the last two or three years. I have been walking in memory through the 'jungle' from 1914 to 1918. I will tell you what strikes me most."

"It is not even the terrible carnage, it is the absolute indifference with which it was regarded, the acquiescence of the most highly civilised nations. In Christendom in all the destruction, devastation, slaughter, mutilation and suffering."

"There is no war going to come just yet in my judgment, but I may be wrong. I thought so in 1914; I thought it was inconceivable, and I may be wrong now, but even with all my optimistic temperament I tell you, there is only just time to stop it—just time."

"It is time that organised Christianity should make an impression on the statesmanship of the world. The greatest Church in Christendom—and I think it ought to be said—was too arrogant to work with Christians who worshipped at other altars even in the service of the Prince of Peace. And you had national, sectarian, and—most despicable of all—personal rivalries and jealousies which wrecked every effort."

CENTENARY TOWER

A centenary "Eiffel" tower, 440 feet high, and surmounted by the largest aerial beacon in the world is to be erected at Melbourne. It will cost $55,000 and will weigh 1,800 tons. Picked out in neon light, it will be visible for more than 100 miles. The actual beacon will be a large rotating searchlight, above which will be the huge neon beacon. The tower will house a continental cabaret, lounges and bars. A promenade to accommodate 900 people will be built at the 300-foot level. Another and a smaller will be built at 400 feet.

PINEAPPLE AND TOMATO

THIS is rather a novel salad. Take half a pineapple, or some slices of thinned pineapple, remove the hard cores and, in the case of the whole fruit, cut into slices. Cut 4 or 5 firm tomatoes into neat slices with a sharp knife. Line a salad bowl with crisp, fresh lettuce leaves, and arrange slices of tomato and pineapple alternately on them. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and a pinch of caster sugar. Pour over all a little pineapple juice, and just before serving a spoonful of mayonnaise on each layer.

POLAR TREK DESCRIBED

RECORD-BREAKING SLEDGE TRIP

The three members of the Lindsay Expedition, which left Great Britain on April 7 and succeeded for the first time in crossing by sledge the 1,100-miles Greenland ice cap from west to east, arrived at Aberdeen a short time ago in the Grimsby trawler Jacinth from Angmagalik, Southern Greenland.

Some anxiety had been felt for their safety, as severe weather had delayed their arrival at Angmagalik until September 8, and they had missed the regular steamer to Denmark. They got in touch by wireless with the Jacinth, which was fishing about 10 miles off the Greenland coast, and thus avoided an enforced winter in Greenland.

The members of the expedition were:

Lieut. Martin Lindsay, aged 28 of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, a member of the British Arctic Air Route Expedition led by Mr. H. G. Watkins in 1930-31, and holder of the King's Polar Medal;

Lieut. A. S. Godfrey, aged 24, of the Royal Engineers; and Mr. Andrew Croft, aged 25, son of the Rev. R. W. Croft, vicar of Kelvedon, Essex.

The Jacinth picked up at Angmagalik on September 15, Lieut. Lindsay said. "Had it been four days later we should have had to remain there till next year, as the Berlin. The introduction at an early date of compulsory labour service for all German youths was clearly announced by Herr Hitler, Secretary of State for the Labour Service, in a speech he made before thousands of members of the Hitler Youth at Hamburg recently. "The German people, and especially German youth," he said, "wish for the general call to compulsory labour service. The wish of the German people is a mark of respect for handicraft and the craftsman."

"A universal call to compulsory labour service will be regarded in future as something as natural as compulsory school attendance is regarded to-day, and will represent an equally great cultural need."

Herr Hitler was interrupted by enthusiastic applause when he said: "The introduction by law of compulsory labour service will come. Only our Leader's decision will fix the date of its introduction. He who is a good fellow will not, however, wait until called up by law, but will follow the moral law of his heart and voluntarily present himself to fulfil this duty."

THE IRON BADGE

Meanwhile, the natural ambition which inspires German boys organised in the Hitler Youth is being given a new stimulus.

Every able and ambitious boy from now on will double and redouble his efforts in physical training until he is awarded the "Badge of Efficiency"—created by Herr Baldur von Schirach, the leader of the German Youth.

A boy can first compete at the age of 16 and, if he succeeds, may wear an iron badge.

A year later he must compete for another badge, of bronze, if he does not wish to lose his reputation as a young hero in the eyes of his comrades. At 18 he will be eligible to compete for a silver badge.

A boy who has obtained the last badge has proved that he is "first class," and may proudly enter the ranks of young men.

MILITARY TRAINING

The physical tests which the competitor must pass are divided into three:

Gymnastics, including sprint and 2-miles courses, long-jump, throwing the hammer, putting the weight, swimming, and route marches.

Military Field Exercises, including map-reading, judging distance, topography, camouflage, and the art of taking cover; and

Small-Bore Shooting. Young people must, moreover, prove that they have a mind trained in the ideas of National Socialism, and the result of their examination and tests will be entered in a book of records which everyone will have to produce as a man if he wishes to get on in the new Germany.

ice pack has formed two months earlier than usual this year.

"The expedition did what it set out to do. It has made the longest sledge journey which has ever been done by a self-supporting party."

"We covered between 1,150 and 1,200 miles, of which 1,050 were done without depots and without anybody's help."

"We started from Jacobshaven, on the west coast, on June 10 with three sledges and 42 dogs, and 450 miles of our journey was over continuous ice."

"From the time we left the coast settlements on the west until we came to the settlements on the other side we met no one."

FASCIST REBELS

WATCHED BY
SECRET SERVICE

TROUBLE IN THE RANKS

THE existence of a Blackshirt secret service inside the movement was disclosed by Commander Thomas Godman, Fascist administrator for Gloucestershire and one of Sir Oswald Mosley's most trusted lieutenants.

Justifying the summary expulsion without inquiry of rebel Bristol members of the British Union of Fascists, he said: "Throughout the Fascist movement in this country there is a well-organised secret service."

"Its executives send the leader confidential reports on the activities of members."

"If for any reason we suspect the activities of any member then he or she is closely watched."

"Expelled members have the right of appeal to the Leader, but in considering the appeal he will have before him his own confidential report from the secret service."

Commander Godman delivered his statement on the revolt to an audience of loyal Blackshirts at his temporary headquarters in Fishponds Road. No questions were asked.

"If these young men who call themselves rebels come to me I shall receive them as I have always received a Blackshirt," he declared, "but I shall say to them: You may call me the Goering of Gloucestershire, but I shall hold in my own two hands the administration of Blackshirts in this area."

"The genius of the Leader brought the movement into being. We have only one Leader and I am his ambassador. His orders must be obeyed."

"I have discussed this revolt with the Leader," he added, "and the dismissal orders for two Bristol officers were signed by him personally."

There was a dramatic moment when Mr. A. V. Gough, the rebel leader, entered the hall. He was the only representative of the rebels and he declared that he had received no invitation to attend.

Mr. Gough asked if there would be a further inquiry at which he could produce his own evidence. "There will be no further inquiry," said Commander Godman.

LABOUR SHY OF CONFISCATION

People Would Never
Stand For It

Left-wing Socialists, headed by Sir Stafford Cripps, who, at the party conference at Southport, advocated confiscation of the capital value of industries, were warned by both Mr. Lees-Smith (a former Socialist Postmaster-General) and Mr. Herbert Morrison that the electors would not tolerate such a proposal.

In its policy report the party executive proposed that when an industry was nationalised shares holders should be given the income they were getting and should eventually be repaid in some form or other the capital value.

The Left Wingers put forward an amendment urging that no provision for capital repayment should be made.

Mr. Lees-Smith asked what would be the effect of this latter policy on the next election.

"You will go before the country and say, 'If we are returned within six months we shall confiscate one half to two-thirds of the property of every shareholder in every bank throughout the country.'"

"If there were the slightest prospect of our being returned to carry out this policy there would be a run on the banks straightaway."

Mr. Herbert Morrison said:

"Britain is not the type of country and has not the type of people who are going to respond readily to confiscation."

On a card vote the amendment was heavily defeated, the figures being 149,000 for and 2,118,000 against.

Do Young Clergy Wed Too Young?

BISHOPS WARNING
TO CURATES

Do young clergy marry too early?

This was one of the marriage problems discussed recently at a number of Diocesan Conferences.

The Bishop of Winchester (Dr. Garbutt), speaking at the Winchester Conference said:

"The way in which many of the younger clergy enter into marriage within a short time of their ordination," he said, "is a serious hindrance to their work and an obstacle to their usefulness."

"In some professions it is unusual for a man to marry until he is 30. In contrast ordination is used by many as a quick road to matrimony."

Chelmsford Diocesan Conference passed a resolution urging that members of the Church of England contemplating marriage with Roman Catholics should refuse any conditions which ignored the full catholicity of the Church of England.

Canon Olivier said that among these conditions was one that the children must be educated as Roman Catholics.

"We must not try to prevent a girl from marrying a Roman Catholic."

This Frankfurt man, Harald Schutz, who does not like cameras, speaks 200 languages. Here he is reading a chit from Korea.

Catholic with whom she has fallen in love," he said, "but the Anglican must be able to counter the other party's fear of ex-communication."

Speaking of marriage and divorce, the Bishop of Salisbury (Dr. St. Clair Donaldson) said it had become inevitable that there should be two standards of marriage, but this also involves the conclusion that many who had married again after divorce in accordance with the law must not be regarded as notorious evil lives, and if all is otherwise in order, should be allowed to receive Holy Communion.

FIGHTING THE FLU

PROGRESS MADE
IN RESEARCH

It is revealed that an announcement of great importance is shortly to be made by the Medical Research Council, whose recent investigations of the problems of influenza have borne fresh fruit.

More than a year has gone by since British research workers (Dr. C. H. Andrews, Dr. Wilson Smith, and Dr. P. P. Laidlaw, of the Mill Hill Farm Research Laboratory) made known to the world the results of their discoveries.

These scientists established that the germ of human influenza can infect a ferret and that ferrets can infect one another just as human beings do by contact; that human beings, like animals, are temporarily immune after an attack and that the blood of human influenza convalescents contains a protective substance.

Two new problems have been confronting the research workers. First, can a means be found to protect the ferret artificially against influenza without actually giving it the disease and if so, can this discovery be applied to human beings?

It is anticipated that the new announcement will throw fresh light on this issue.

A picture of utter desolation is Nome, Alaska, once thriving and colourful centre of the Yukon gold rush, now laid waste by a fire which took a toll variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. This picture shows all that is left of the once prosperous town. Nearly the entire business section is gone, only the government wireless station, a hotel, a warehouse and scattered homes remain. With winter closing in, the few remaining inhabitants are threatened with lack of food and shelter.

FREE STATE'S TRADE LOSS

HIGHEST ADVERSE
BALANCE IN YEARS

BRITAIN'S ADVANTAGE

Irish Free State trade returns, published recently for the year ended August 31, reveal that the adverse balance against the 26 counties is the highest for 10 years.

The figure, £19,616,000, represents an increase in the adverse balance of more than £4,500,000, compared with 1933.

The adverse balance has risen steadily since 1930, when the amount was £10,384,000.

Last year the adverse balance was £14,468,000, and the jump from 1933 until now is the biggest on record.

The total trade of the country has, however, increased from £56,789,000 to £57,529,000 for the twelve months.

One of the most noteworthy features of the statistics is that imports from Great Britain increased considerably, while exports to Great Britain showed a decrease in the period January to August of this year.

During these months the Free State bought £12,044,000 worth of goods from Great Britain, an increase of well over £1,000,000 compared with 1933.

Export figures for the 26 counties show that Great Britain sends to the Free State almost £7,000,000 worth of goods more than she buys.

The value of cattle exported during the first eight months of this year decreased by £1,036,000 compared with the same period of 1933.

The total number of cattle exported did not decrease in the same proportion, which shows that cattle, the chief export of the country, are still falling in value.

SCRAPPING OF

Lancashire has begun intensive discussion of the Colwyn Committee's scheme for scrapping redundant spindles at a cost of £2,000,000 and regulating production by a quota.

cerned, but officials anticipate that a month will elapse before the attitude of the trade can be estimated.

Mr. Fred Mills, President of the Oldham Master Spinners, a member of Lord Colwyn's committee which evolved the scheme said that everybody in the trade was now realising that individual effort was not enough.

He laid stress on the importance of dealing with redundancy.

If that part of the scheme was rejected, he said, the position might arise that the association, by its quota system, would bring about an improvement which would stimulate owners of closed mills to restart and wreck the effort.

Mr. Henry Boothman, secretary of the Amalgamation of Spinners' Trade Unions, said that many of the features of the employers' scheme were similar to the proposals for a control board put forward by the Trades Union Congress.

NAVIGATING DANUBE

The International Danube Committee has arranged to engage ice-breakers to clear the Danube during the winter. It is stated that ten ice-breakers will clear the Danube from Vienna to the Black Sea, working in Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, and Rumania. Although freight ships will be enabled to ply all through the winter, passenger steamers will, as hitherto, run only during the summer and autumn.

Minister of the Interior is authorised to impose fines up to 20,000 pesetas and civil governors up to 10,000 pesetas. For second offences, these can be increased by 50 per cent.

Should the civil authority, having used the powers granted under the state of prevention and alarm, find itself even with the aid of the military, unable to cope with some movement or agitation, martial law may be proclaimed. The civil authority, which is usually the Governor, is authorised to give public warning by means of a proclamation and then communicate immediately with the judicial and military authority. Then he can prepare the immediate declaration of martial law.

Only the government can declare martial law throughout an autonomous region. If the civil governor is not available and danger is imminent, the local judge, the mayor and the military commander can declare martial law.

When there is danger of agitation spreading, the government decides the area that has to be submitted to martial law.

Under the state of war, the military authority has the same powers as the civil authority under the state of prevention and alarm. After the publication by the military authority of proclamation calling on the rebels to desist in their attitude, groups can be dissolved by force and anybody on the scene of combat arrested. Any corporation employee is obliged to assist the civil or military authority in suppressing the sedition under penalty of losing his job. Once the rebellion is put down, the law of public order lays down that the military authority shall proceed to the formation of courts martial.

However, the ending of the state of war can only be decided by the unanimous vote of the authorities who declared it. If there is only a majority vote, then the government decides the matter.

When martial law is declared, the government is obliged according to the constitution to report the matter to the Cortes in the period of eight days. Extension beyond the period of 30 days is decided by the Cortes, or if it is dissolved, by the civil or military authority in the permanent commission of the Cortes.—United Press.

THE Writing Sensation OF 1934

Reversible Fine Medium Hairline point writes or Broad or Extra fine

PLEASE do not confuse the revolutionary new Parker with ordinary "transparent" pens. Hold the pen to the light, and shimmering jet rings, like "mysterious windows," show instantly when to refill. No more running out of ink at important times.

And this sacred marvel, with the "Ultimate Barrel," actually holds 102% more ink! Yet the size is not increased. The precious platinum and gold point, iridium tipped, and perfectly formed, writes on each side. And an easier pen to write with you'll never find in this world!

Parker has abolished 14 old-time parts in developing this vacuum-filling fountain pen which is guaranteed mechanically perfect! Never again will you have any trouble with rubber sacs, piston pumps, packing, and other devices. Parker eliminates them all, and gives you a modern fool-proof, Vacuum-filling system.

Drop in at the nearest good dealer and ask to see the greatest improvement in writing since the invention of the fountain pen. A marvelous gift for a friend, a member of your family, or yourself!

"BASIC ENGLISH"

Interesting Talk At Rotary Club

A most interesting talk on "Basic English" was given at the Hongkong Rotary Club this afternoon by Mr. A. B. Reynolds, B.A., Lecturer in English at the Hongkong University. Mr. M. K. Lo presided. In the course of his talk, Mr. Reynolds said:—"Basic English" is an attempt to give to everyone a second, or international, language, which will take up as little of the learner's time as possible. It is a system in which everything may be said for all the purposes of everyday existence: the common interests of men and women, general talk, news, trade, and science. To the eye and ear it will not seem in any way different from normal English, which is now the language of 600,000,000 persons.

ONLY 850 WORDS.

There are only 850 words in the complete list, which may be clearly printed on one side of a piece of note-paper. But simple rules are given for making other words with the help of those in the list; such as designers, designing, and designed, from design, or air-plane from air and plane.

Those who have no knowledge of English will be able to make out the sense of a radio talk, or a business letter, after a week with the word-list and the records; but it may be a month or two before talking and writing are possible. An Englishman will make an adjustment to Basic ways of thought in a very short time, but at first he will have to take some trouble to be clear and simple.

In fact, it is the business of all internationally-minded persons to make Basic English part of the system of education in every country, so that there may be less chance of war, and less learning of languages—which, after all, for most of us, are a very unnecessary waste of time.

INTERNATIONAL VALUE. After discussing various uses of Basic in public and private affairs, its value as an instrument of peace and understanding, and its advantages over other possible means of international communication, the speaker concluded:

Industry in all its branches can no longer be limited to one nation; it must be international if it is to have any growth. Take a look at the growth of radio and the developments which would be possible with the use of an international language. Telephones, "transmitters," and newspapers will give much more profit in international harmony as well as in money when Basic is the selected second language of all nations. When Basic is general in Hongkong and the Morning Post and the Telegraph are put into Basic, the number of readers will go up so much that the Morning Post will have a building ten times as big as the new Bank and the Telegraph will make an agreement with the C.P.R. for Hongkong sportsmen to have the use of the Empress of Britain for all their journeys to Shanghai, and nobody will ever be made ill by the journey again.

The adoption of Basic English in Hongkong Government schools would give much-needed time for things which are more important to a great number of the boys and girls learning English by the present method, and would give a good base to those who go on to normal English. The education authorities might well make a start without loss of time.

USEFUL BOOK. If you have any interest in international relations; if you have any interest in international industries; if you have any business or private

RISING RIVER SWEEPS HONAN

MANY LIVES FEARED LOST IN FLOOD

Loyang, Nov. 7. The abnormal rise of the tributaries of the Yellow River has caused a widespread flood over six districts in Eastern Honan Province.

The most seriously affected places are Fukow and Shi-hua, from which thousands of refugees are flocking to Loyang. They need immediate relief.

It is estimated that at least 50 persons were drowned in the flooded area, while hundreds of houses collapsed.—Central News.

BRITISH FINANCE

LATEST TREASURY FIGURES

London, Nov. 6. Exchequer returns for the past week show that during the current financial year the total ordinary revenue, exclusive of self-balancing revenue, amounted at November 3 to £333,045,439, which is £3,977,060 less than the amount collected at the corresponding date last year.

Expenditure for the same period, exclusive of self-balancing items, was £414,653,559, which exceeds the amount expended at the corresponding date last year by £8,087,297.—British Wireless.

SMALL FIRE

SOON QUELLED BY BRIGADE

A fire which broke out yesterday afternoon at No. 2 Sai Wo Lane destroyed the first floor, on which it originated, and caused minor damage to the ground floor, damage to property, including stock in the ground floor, amounted to £4,000 and is covered by insurance. Firemen called out to deal with the outbreak believed that the fire was caused by mats used for drying tea, in the restaurant on the first floor, being accidentally ignited. The fire was got under control very shortly after arrival of the Brigade.

Friends with whom you cannot have a natural discussion because of language troubles, take a look at "The A.B.C. of Basic English" by C. K. Ogden. You can get it and other books like it at Kelly and Walsh and its price is only $2.25. It will take you three or four days to get a full knowledge of Basic; it will take a person who has no knowledge of English three or four months. "Take a bite of Basic English with your breakfast in the morning!"

Hongkong is in the middle between East and West. Work is being done in Europe, and in Japan; some work is being done in Hongkong but not enough. If anybody present or not present has any desire for more discussion of Basic or if anybody has any desire to see Chinese boys getting a knowledge of Basic, I shall be happy to have his name, and I have no doubt that the Salesian Fathers will be happy as I shall to have the company of anybody interested at the very good school in which the work is being done.

Before I take my seat, let me give you one verse from the Basic English account of the story of Babel—"and the Lord said, See the people is one, and they have all one language, and they are doing this; and now everything which they have in mind to do will be possible for them."

NOT RIGHT

An important principle is involved in the withdrawal by the police of the case in which three sailors from a French cruiser were charged with resisting arrest and with disorderly conduct. The circumstances which gave rise to the trouble were quite simple. The sailors had engaged sedan chairs at Battery Path to take them to the Peak Tramway station, where they tendered a five-dollar note which the coolies, unable to change, declined to accept. A commotion arose, during which one of the coolies is said to have been assaulted. A European police sergeant then appeared on the scene, and, being unable to make himself understood, attempted to take the sailors to the police station. More trouble arose on the way, and eventually further assistance had to be obtained before the men were locked up. According to a statement made in Court, the sailors were under the influence of liquor at the time. The grounds on which the police withdrew the charges were two—first, that the trouble arose by reason of language difficulties; and, secondly, that an assurance had been received from the captain of the cruiser that the men would be dealt with on board ship for disorderly conduct ashore and for having assaulted the police. Mr. Calthrop, in asking for the withdrawal of the charges, mentioned that the men had no right whatever to refuse to go to the police station. That much admitted, it must surely be added that they had far less right to assault the police. But the point which deserves stressing is that the reasons given for withdrawal of the charges were in no sense adequate. Foreign sailors, of whatever nationality, who come to this Colony must surely be held to be amenable to our laws. They have no right to commit offences of any kind—certainly not to assault the police—and then expect that their punishment should be taken out of the hands of the local authorities. Had the defendants in the case under notice been guilty of misconduct on board their own vessel, the right of the French naval authorities to deal with the case would be beyond dispute, but immediately they set foot on shore they rendered themselves subject to the laws of the Colony and to punishment by the local authorities for any breach thereof. It is, indeed, matter for surprise that the Magistrate before whom the men were brought so readily agreed to the police request, involving an important surrender of rights. The point, as we say, is an important one, and it is to be hoped that in future instances of a similar character no question of the derogation of the authority of the Court will arise.

NOTES OF THE DAY

NEW RACKET

What is apparently, a new, or modernised system, of blackbirding is occupying the attention of the authorities in the United States and, it is to be hoped, in Canton. It has been disclosed that an international ring of smugglers is engaged in shipping Chinese into the United States, dodging the Immigration authorities and the Alien Act and making enormous profits out of the business. It is not a new game, this, but it has been played for so long under good cover that the world is only just waking up to what is happening. Formerly the Chinese were generally landed in Mexico and were left to make their way across the frontier from there. But this system has its drawbacks, and now the Chinese are being landed on American soil. It seems that there are still enough Chinese with a few thousand dollars available who are glad to seek their fortunes in America and it is upon these misled unfortunates that the smuggling ring has been preying for some time.

HORRIBLE TREATMENT

The tales of horror told by the recently arrested Cantonese who constituted the "cargo" of one of the smugglers' craft may go far in preventing a continuation of the enterprise. If the people of China were made aware of the treatment to which they are subject by the smugglers, if they knew that they would be pitched overboard in mid-ocean if they showed symptoms of disease, if they knew that they would be robbed at the end of their journey and their friends called upon to pay big ransoms for the gangsters, that they would be in danger of being murdered if this ransom was not forthcoming, then the traffic in this human freight might cease for lack of customers. According to news reports the present traffic is as bad as that of the slave trading days, except that the smugglers do not care what happens to their "slaves" once they are aboard ship and the slave traders took some pains to keep their charges living. It is to be hoped that the announcement that the heads of the smugglers' ring are known and that they would be arrested shortly has some truth in it. Their detention may not end the traffic, for there are probably several gangs involved, but at least it will be a blow to the trade.

"L. G. S." CRITICISM

Mr. David Lloyd George very outspokenly attacked the policies of Signor Mussolini recently when he said, in part: "Mussolini talks about training the children of Italy from seven upwards to the use of arms. He is going to attune the minds of children to the prospects of slaughter—not of peace, not of goodwill, not of brotherhood, but of killing. If Mussolini's policy is followed by every statesman, on the walls of every school will be written, 'Little children, KILL one another.' It was a typical speech and it drew prolonged applause from the London audience. Mr. Lloyd George knows how to move his hearers. It may be admitted that a certain amount of military training and discipline is good for a school boy, but to put guns into the hands of children and teach them to use them as weapons of war is surely encouraging in them a dangerous, if not fatal, inclination. The psychological effect of such training will be to make each little Italian of the Mussolini school a potential warrior. It is a splendid thought that they may some day emulate those men who made Rome great, but one which may very well cause some apprehensiveness among their neighbors. It is just possible that Il Duce has erred.

DOES IT MATTER?

A French scientist, who has died, aged 90, left a long-life prescription to his companion scientist, aged 102. Here, one might think, would be an abstruse theory relating to physical structure in senescence, or at least, a thesis on metabolism. But no. He said: "Take a long walk before breakfast. That is a thing we can all do. Similarly, we can drink beer or not drink beer. We can indulge in tobacco or remain non-smokers. We can sleep four hours a day, or twelve. All these contradictions have been uttered solemnly by centenarians. Alfred Earle, Bishop of Marlborough, at the age of 85, said: "Find a safe doctor; rarely take his pills." To-day that counsel might be rendered: "Find a safe scientist; take his advice when you feel like it."

HOW SPAIN GUARDS AGAINST REVOLT

Madrid, Nov. 1.

When extraordinary measures are considered necessary to preserve public order in Spain, either throughout the country or in a certain province or city, the Government is authorised by the Constitution to declare the state of prevention, the state of alarm or the state of war. This latter state is equivalent to martial law.

The powers allowed the government under the state of prevention which has been declared twice this year, are outlined in the law of public order. According to this law, the state of prevention lasts two months, a period which can be extended by degree for one month at a time. At any time the government can end the state of prevention.

Ten days after the termination of the state of prevention, the government will report to the Cortes the use that has been made of the special powers granted it under the law. If the Cortes is not in session, the government will report to the permanent committee of the Cortes. So reads the law of public order.

As soon as the state of prevention comes into force, which is immediately the decree is signed by the President of the Republic, foreigners not established in Spanish territory who have failed to fulfil all the legal regulations can, without formality, be arrested and immediately expelled from the country by order of the governing authority, who is only obliged to report the matter to the Minister of Interior.

Foreigners not established in Spanish territory who disturb public order can be expelled, in spite of any appeal, they may make to the Minister of Interior. Foreigners permanently established in Spanish territory come under the same heading as nationals. But if they disturb public order, they can be prosecuted and their expulsion ordered. They, however, are given the right of appeal to the Minister of Interior.

The governing authority can demand two days' notice of change of residence, and the destination and itinerary of travellers; appoint delegates to supervise industrial or commercial concerns which are likely to cause a disturbance of public order or in serious cases order the temporary closing down of the concern.

It can order all publications, with the exception of books, which defend political or social ideas, to be sent two hours before publication or one hour in the case of daily newspapers, to be stamped; and can take whatever precautions are considered necessary to assure public order at public meetings.

Open air meetings and manifestations can be suspended or postponed by the governing authority when it is considered that these threaten public order. Permission can also be refused to hold them.

It can limit or prohibit traffic in certain places and at certain times, draw up regulations for necessary supplies and public services, prohibit and prevent the closing down of industry or commerce to the point of temporary seizure if necessary, order that strikes be announced five days beforehand if they do not affect the general interest, ten days if they do, and 15 if they affect public works or services.

Prevent strikes in public services and those which do not follow procedure laid down by the law. In cases where attempts are made to disturb public order, such as in strikes, or by the declaration of strikes which are deemed illegal, the civil governors and the Minister of Interior are authorised to impose fines.

The Minister of Interior can impose fines up to 10,000 pesetas and the civil governors up to 5,000 pesetas. The headquarters, or centres of the party or association contributing to the causing of public order, either by calling a strike or by any other act, can be closed down and the leaders subjected to the fines as outlined.

In the case of a second offence, these fines may be increased 50 per cent. Appeal against the fines can be made to the Tribunal of Constitutional Guarantees.

If the powers granted under the state of prevention are considered insufficient for the maintenance of public order, the government can "in cases of clear and imminent gravity" suspend the guarantees outlined in articles 29, 31, 34, 38 and 39 of the Constitution.

The Constitution says in article 42 "The rights and guarantees mentioned in articles 29, 31, 34, 38 and 39 can be suspended wholly or partially in all or part of the national territory by government decree. If the Cortes is in session, it will decide on the suspension of the guarantees agreed to by the government. If the Cortes is closed, the government must convocate it in the space of eight days to give an account of its action. If the Cortes is not convoked within the period laid down, they will meet automatically on the ninth day. The Cortes cannot be dissolved before discussing the matter and coming to a decision. If the Cortes is dissolved, the government will report immediately to the permanent commission of the Cortes.

"The period of suspension of constitutional guarantees cannot exceed 30 days. Any extension of the period needs the approval of the Cortes or the permanent commission."

Under the state of alarm, the governing authority can prohibit the formation of groups of any kind or interfering in the public highway. Force may be used to disperse groups after three warnings. The law of public order says "The civil authority can submit all publications to previous censorship and in urgent cases order the suspension of publications which incite or assist the commission of offences against public order. Copies of such publications can be confiscated and, together with the persons responsible, sent to the Juzgado (court) to be dealt with."

"The civil authority can arrest anybody if it is considered necessary for the preservation of order, although the person may not have committed an offence. Persons considered dangerous or suspected of having participated in acts against public order can be compelled to change their place of residence to a distance of not more than 250 kilometres, during the period of duration of the state of alarm. "The civil authority can enter the home of any Spaniard or foreigner resident in Spain without his consent and examine papers and effects."

The state of alarm allows of heavier fines than those laid down under the state of prevention for disturbance of public order. The

The Very Idea! NEW YORKERS WANT A LIFT

A shadow has been cast over the skyscrapers of New York by the action of the lift operators in going on strike.

Prosperous business men who have not seen their own feet for years found it convenient to be ill rather than face forty-five flights of stairs, and office boys who arrived at the office at noon had to leave immediately to qualify for their hot dogs and chewing gum.

Senator Leggett interviewed on Sunday at the seventh flight swore that he would bring the Liftmen's Association to its knees rather than give way on a point of principle.

Yesterday the Senator was interviewed going up the forty-third flight on his knees and he remarked then that it was infamous that men of the fine calibre and quality of the members of the Liftmen's Association could not work in unison with their fellows.

The Senator reached his office early this morning and is stated to be as well as could be expected, after receiving an invitation by telephone to become a member of the Lighter Uplift Society. He has ordered his bed to be brought to the office.

Broadway presented a fantastic sight with hundreds of cranes awing the talpans up to their respective stories.

There was just as much craning in the street below and one modest tyrist insisted on being hoisted feet uppermost to the fifty-second story of Manhattan Building. Her employer who was watching from above was so impressed that he gave her a rise in his air.

In local circles it is felt that the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation would do well to remain at par but the reply of the manager is that there is another story to that. Perhaps!

CRISIS STILL THREATENS FRANCE

RADICAL THREAT TO RESIGN BUDGET POLICY QUARREL

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Agency, 1934. Received, November 7, 1934.)

Paris, Nov. 6. The long expected crisis in the French Cabinet is now at hand. The temporary compromise with the Radicals appears to have been no more than a stop-gap. Six of the Radical ministers threatened to resign to-day.

The members of the ministry prepared to resign are: M. Herriot, M. Berthod, M. Marchand, M. Bertrand, M. Queuille and M. Lamoureux. The resignations were handed to M. Doumergue, the Prime Minister, to be effective if he persists in asking for budgetary credits for three months in 1935 as part of the general vote.

There will be a vote of confidence on Thursday. —United Press.

POLICY DISPUTE.

Paris, Nov. 6. Nothing but a miracle can avert a crisis in the Cabinet on November 8.

In spite of the postponement of the breach in Cabinet ranks, following the suggestion of the Radicals for a compromise in order to continue the party truce, well-informed observers forecast that M. Doumergue will not agree to voting the budget rather than demanding credits.

This will precipitate a crisis more surely than the suggested reforms in the Constitution, they believe. —Reuter.

polled with the Democrats generally leading by a good margin.

NEW DEAL CONGRESS.

A New Deal Congress seems an accomplished fact. Returns indicate a record poll for a year in which no presidential election is involved.

Governor Lehman of New York is apparently romping home to office.

West Virginia, Maryland, New York State soon reported leads for the Democratic senatorial candidates while all Democrats were elected as usual from Georgia, Mississippi and other southern states.

In an electoral contest in Chicago between two negroes, the Republican representative is losing ground.

The Democrats will undoubtedly increase their Senate strength to a two-thirds majority as the latest returns from the hitherto predominantly Republican states of Maryland, West Virginia, Connecticut and Ohio show the Republican vote is in arrears. —Reuter and United Press.

PRESIDENT VOTES.

Driving from their Hyde Park home through a terrific downpour of rain, President Roosevelt and his family voted at the Town Hall where a woman election inspector asked, "What name, please," before handing the President his ballot.

President Roosevelt declined to discuss the election.

LEHMAN ELECTED.

The Republican candidate for the governorship, Mr. Moses, has conceded the re-election of Governor Lehman in New York State.

Democratic Senators were easily elected in Virginia, Florida, Mississippi and Texas, while the Democrats have established early leads in Arizona, New York, Nevada and Tennessee.

Republicans, however, hold a narrow advantage in Rhode Island, Vermont and Indiana.

A major upset is apparent in Maryland where the Democratic Governor Ritchie, seeking a fifth term of office, is lagging behind the Republican, Mr. Rice, in the Democrat stronghold of Baltimore.

KEEPS ITS PLACE.

New Ashford, Mass., traditionally first to report election returns throughout the nation, gave the Republican Mr. Gaspar Bacon an early lead over his rival, Mr. James Curley, in the gubernatorial race.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, led Mr. Robert Washburn narrowly.

BANK JUDGMENT SEQUEL

LEGAL ARGUMENT IN SPECIAL CASE

A special case stated by consent of both parties, and involving a sum of $20,000, was before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice A. D. A. MacGregor at the Supreme Court this morning.

The case arose from long litigation hitherto confined to chambers in which the Yick On Bank had sued and obtained judgment against the Shin Tai Hong Firm, and Ching Keng-man, Ng Tsz-fung, and Yu Cheuk-sung.

The present issue before the court was: Whether the plaintiffs were debarred in law from proceeding further against the fourth defendant, Yu Cheuk-sung, in the action, costs of the special case to be borne by the party against whom the Court decided on this question.

Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., instructed by Mr. F. H. Loxley, of Russ & Co., represented the Bank, and Mr. D. McNeill and Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Mr. M. K. Lo, of Lo & Lo, appeared for Yu Cheuk-sung. The judgment had been given in chambers on two promissory notes for $10,000 each signed in July and August last year.

FOUR POINTS.

Mr. McNeill said he wished to make four points on which the fourth defendant's case rested.

The first was that Yu Cheuk-sung was given no notice at all of the proceedings in the action which were taken in chambers, and therefore did not and could not apply for leave to defend.

Secondly, none of the conditions were present in the case which would enable the Court to reserve power to proceed against the fourth defendant as it did.

Thirdly, counsel submitted, there never was a judgment against the firm within the meaning of the law, because judgment was by consent and in a partnership firm such as this no partner could bind another by consenting to judgment.

Mr. Potter objected to this "velled" attack on the judgment, and pointed to correspondence in which the fourth defendant's solicitor had referred to the decision of the Court as the judgment.

Mr. McNeill said he had been misunderstood. He was advancing this point as a new argument in the case, and produced further correspondence in support of it.

Mr. Potter dissented on the ground that in a special case, such as this, the matters for argument should be specifically stated and all documents produced.

MUST BE SPECIFIC.

His Lordship said he would hear Mr. McNeill, however, and the matter could be argued later.

The fourth point for Yu Cheuk-sung was the submission that on the face of the procedure adopted, the plaintiff could never have intended to include the fourth defendant among the persons whom they sued under the name of the firm. If they obtained judgment against the firm, the plaintiffs had a prima facie right to apply for an issue to be tried as to whether the fourth defendant was a partner and could be included.

Mr. Macnamara enlarged on the last point.

The hearing is proceeding.

An interesting discussion followed, in which Mr. G. P. de Martin, the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith, Mr. W. L. Handyside, Mrs. N. Evans and Mr. E. Davidson took part.

Mr. Sims was thanked for his address, by H. E. the Governor, who expressed the hope that he would at some future date read another paper to the Association.

ARMISTICE DAY

Ceremony At Chinese Memorial Arch

In addition to the main ceremony at the Cenotaph on Armistice Day, on Sunday next, there will be an observance at the Chinese Memorial Arch at the Botanic Gardens at 11.45 a.m.

His Excellency the Governor, with the General Officer Commanding, Hongkong Area, the Senior Naval Officer and the Senior Royal Air Force Officer, will be met at the foot of the Botanic Garden steps by the Chinese Members of Council, who will escort them up the steps to the Memorial.

"Last Post" will be sounded by Military Buglers. Then there will be a short pause followed by "Reveille." His Excellency the Governor will then lay a wreath followed by the General Officer Commanding, the Senior Naval Officer and the Senior Royal Air Force Officer.

Chinese Members of Council will then lay a wreath followed by Chinese Representatives on the Sanitary Board, Senior Members of the District Watch Committee, Chairman of the Tung Wah Hospital, Chairman of the Police, General Chamber of Commerce. Then wreaths will be laid by others who desire to do so.

Other Members of the Executive and Legislative Councils have also been invited to take their places beside the Memorial Arch.

"Last Post" and "Reveille" will be blown by buglers of the South Wales Borderers, and a body of Chinese from the Chinese portion of the 40th Company Royal Engineers will parade under a British Officer.

The steps leading up to the Memorial Arch will be lined, by Special Police Reserves, and a detachment of District Watchmen will parade under Inspector Andrew.

LIQUOR CASE CONCLUDES

MAN CONVICTED ON THREE CHARGES

The case in which two men, Ng Chuen and Mak Kin, were charged on seven different counts in respect of the possession and sales of dutiable liquor, was concluded this morning at the Kowloon Magistracy before Mr. E. L. Wynne-Jones. The second defendant was discharged at a previous hearing, owing to the lack of evidence against him.

The first defendant was convicted on three charges and was discharged on another. For the possession of dutiable liquor he was fined $10, in default 14 days' hard labour; for selling intoxicating liquor without a licence he was fined $25 or one month, and for selling adulterated liquor to which a false trade mark, resembling those used by James Hennessy and Company, he was fined $25 or one month.

His Worship said:—As you have been in custody so long, I will make that concurrent.

Defendant was discharged on charge (c) dealing with adulterated liquor, as his Worship was satisfied that defendant did not know that the liquor was adulterated.

Mr. F. G. Nigel appeared for Rendon and Co., the complainants in two charges, while Mr. H. A. Taylor, Monopoly Analyst, appeared for the prosecution.

WHY KNEE-ACTION WHEELS?

HERE ARE THE FACTS ON CHEVROLET KNEE-ACTION

Each front wheel is independently sprung, "stepping over" bumps with easy riding action. Knee Action wheels make the back seat as restful as the front, eliminating "back seat pitch."

The Chevrolet type of Knee Action is much safer, permitting faster speeds on rough roads and preventing the car from "swaying" or "skidding."

Water, ice and stones cannot affect Chevrolet's Knee Action. Chevrolet Knee-Action permits the wheels to move straight up and down, preventing "tyre scrubbing" and giving longer tyre life.

Stoke's Important Part In London Football

Stoke has played an important part in the rise of London football. They were original members of the League, and even in their successful days they counted a gate of 8,000 a good one. Receipts for the season then amounted to about £3,000. Now they are ten times more.

The change is undoubtedly due to the widening of interest. Motor-cars and charabancs were parked in the streets round the ground in hundreds. Soon the club will have their own park to accommodate 400 cars and 100 charabancs. To-day Stoke draw their supporters from a radius of 30 miles.

It is perhaps not generally appreciated, but the development of motor transport has been the biggest factor in the making of the thousands of converts to the game.

There is one page in the history of the Stoke club of the greatest significance. Their disaster in 1908, when they were wound up and had to make a fresh start in the Birmingham League, was the first brick in the building of the London stronghold as we know it to-day.

The dropping out of Stoke was Tottenham Hotspur's opportunity, and they were elected to fill the vacancy in the Second Division. Big football in London really dates from this time, for although Woolwich Arsenal were the pioneers it was not until the Hotspurs were launched in the League that the interest of the public was captured.

To-day the Stoke club are in a stronger position than ever before. Their fine ground, still with its quaint old cricket pavilion tucked away in the corner, will hold well over 50,000 people, and a large proportion are under cover. Better still, they have a young team of great promise under the guidance of Bob McGrory, who at his age still plays remarkably. It was his birthday a fortnight ago—and well he must be the oldest man in first-class football. He is assistant manager to Mr. Tom Mather, under whose control the wonderful revival of the club has taken place.

THIRD DIV. TEAMS STICK TO THEIR STAR PLAYERS

NOT SO READY TO TRANSFER THEM

SPLENDID POLICY OF ALOOFNESS WHICH SHOULD HELP

The big topic in football circles at the moment is the transfer of players, writes a correspondent in the Daily Mail. There is great activity behind the scenes in the Southern Section of the Third Division, and the demand for the star men by First Division clubs is very satisfactory. We could not have a clearer reminder of the vast improvement in the standard of football in the Southern Section.

But I am glad to discover that clubs are not parting with their best men as readily as in previous years.

Hitherto it has been the policy of the clubs to develop their players with a view to transferring them. Experiences within the last two weeks have I think provided good evidence of a new determination in the clubs to keep their players. Indeed, they are ready, should it prove possible, to strengthen their own weaknesses.

This policy is a sound one.

BIG TEMPTATION.

Nobody realises more clearly than I how sorely tempted a Third Division club can be when a big cheque is dangled before the eyes for the transfer of a star player. But I am convinced that many of the clubs are now suffering from the effects of a policy which, in the past, has resulted in the sale of good players year after year and consequent loss of interest by the supporters, who have given up hope of the club ever achieving anything in football.

If we can only maintain the policy of aloofness for a season or two and let the Arsenal and the Chelsea keep their big money, then the much maligned Third Division will go on improving. And the bigger crowds that have been attracted to matches this season will continue to attend.

As the manager of one of the leading clubs in the Southern Section whose gates are averaging over 18,000, I may not be considered in a position to advise. I am convinced, however, that we must keep our best players if the competition is to advance. We can keep at home those spectators who now travel to see First and Second Division games.

Nothing more quickly destroys the confidence and morale of a club's supporters than the departure of star players. A transfer fee of £2,000 or £3,000 for a player may ease the financial burden for the time being, but the policy is a short-sighted one. It has its inevitable repercussions in dwindling gates.

SUCCESS EXPLAINED.

The success of the two top clubs at the moment, Coventry and Charlton, is a direct result of the refusal of both clubs to part with their best players. Coventry, I feel sure, must be tired of turning down offers for at least three of their forwards, Bourton, Lake, and Lauderdale have been approved by the bigger clubs as likely candidates for a rise in status;

On Saturday, November 10, the Club "A" XV will meet the Army "A" XV at Sookimpo at 8 p.m. The first Fifteens will meet in a friendly fixture on the same ground at 4.15 p.m. As Monday, November 12, is a Holiday there will be no Rugby practice that evening.

PERVERSION OF FACTS ALLEGED

"VERITAS" PILLORIED FOR LAST WEEK'S COMMENTARY

SEQUEL TO WITHDRAWAL FROM THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Further correspondents have rushed to defend the action of the Young Indians in withdrawing from the Football League, which action was criticised by "Veritas" in the Telegraph last Saturday. "Verily" in a letter published below contends that the Telegraph commentator mis-stated the facts in arriving at an unfair conclusion. A letter has also been received from "Sports," publication of which is held over until tomorrow in view of the pressure on space.

Accompanying this letter to-morrow, "Veritas" will reply to his critics, and endeavour to justify his article of last week.

The Sports Editor, The Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir:—The hysterical vein in which "Veritas" condemned the Young Indians Football Club, in your Saturday's issue, for having withdrawn from the Second Division League not only showed his one-sided reasonings but also made very disappointing reading from one on whom I had learned to regard as an unbiased and fairly on local football topics. His apparent disregard for or ignorance of the real facts that led the Young Indians to take a step, which honestly was as distasteful to them as it was to the Football Association, has brought me to join issue with him. I therefore appeal to you, in fairness to the Young Indians, to give this as much prominence as you did "Veritas."

The attitude adopted by the Emergency Committee, to say the least, is indeed very arbitrary. At the enquiry over the incident of the Hongkong Football Club-Young Indians match, the referee stated that he actually stopped the game and warned both TEAMS for having adopted rough and dangerous tactics and also warned Mr. Baker once before he had to send this player from the field of play. This, Sir, was most emphatically denied by the Young Indians' representative at the said enquiry. Yet no further steps were taken by the Committee to verify these statements but, taking the referee's word as absolute truth, they (the Committee members) took a serious view of this particular incident and suspended Mr. Baker for two months.

The referee, perhaps knowing the full backing he would receive from the authorities, made statements which were challenged by the Young Indians. In all common justice the enquiry should have been adjourned for further evidence to prove the truth or untruth of those statements. But instead the Committee passed judgment as above and also warned the unfortunate Young Indians that the next time one of its members was brought up before this Committee the WHOLE TEAM would be suspended from further participation in local football.

I would like to question this Committee the right and authority from which it assumes in making this drastic intimidation. It has, may be, the privilege to recommend but certainly not the right to suspend. NOT SUCH A BAD RECORD. As one who has been connected with local football both officially and unofficially for the past twenty years and over let me assure "Veritas" that the past record of the Young Indians is not as bad as those of some of the present members of the Hongkong Football Association and yet repetition of ungentlemanly conduct by players from such clubs never brought forward any kind of warning from the Council or any other body of the Association, leave alone the Emergency Committee.

How many games, in which the Young Indians took part, has "Veritas" ever witnessed? The writer, having heard the supposedly bad reputation of this team, made it a point of attending some of the Young Indians' games and could quote instances of where the faults lie.

In the match against the Royal Artillery no cleaner game could have been wished for. Why? Because both teams played according to the rules of football and not according to physical advantages.

At the match against the Royal Engineers, in the first fifteen minutes no less than four fouls were given and these were all against the latter for unfair charging. Could one, therefore, say that the Young Indians are unfit to take part in any local football competition?

"Veritas" emphasised that if the Young Indians were disallowed with Emergency Committee's decision, they have the right to appeal to the Council of the Association. Does he know that last year a member of the present Emergency Committee told the Young Indians at an enquiry, when the latter protested against, and intimated that they would appeal against, this Committee's sentence of four weeks on one of its members, that if "they appealed they would get six weeks and not four."

Smarting under the sting of such a threat, what is the earthly use of appealing against the present sentence?

UNFORTUNATE INFLUENCE. It appears rather unfortunate that the Indian team figured in several matches in which some of its opponents were brought up for hitting an opponent or for ungentlemanly conduct. But this certainly should not influence the Committee against them and thus place the blame on the team.

I can safely say that the methods adopted by some of the Young Indians' opponents and also the "mistakes" made by some of the referees should have been brought to the notice of the Council, and the Young Indians of the officials who the Young Indians in action they would have found for themselves that this team of young and promising players is not as bad as reports painted it to be.

In considering the fact that one Kowloon player was suspended for four weeks for actually hitting an opponent, one Navy player was cautioned for hitting a Young Indian player, one South China 1st XI player for kicking an opponent was warned and a member of the Railway team was suspended for an offence in a game that culminated in the referee

BRITISH MIDDLEWEIGHT GOOD PROPOSITION

PROMOTERS' TEMPTATION TO YAROSZ

By Geoffrey Simpson.

There is an excellent prospect that Jack McAvoy, the British middle-weight boxing champion, will before long fight for the world title.

It is also probable that the contest will take place in England. At the moment two of our promoters are in the market, and one or the other is likely to tempt Teddy Yarosz, the American claimant to the title, to come here to fight.

The more one sees of McAvoy and his smashing body punching the more one is led to believe that in this young Lancashire middle-weight England possesses possibly the finest 11st. 6lb. boxer in the world.

His 71-second knock-out of the Belgian Etienne in Manchester last month was only one of his many lightning victories this year. The improvement he has made since he took the middle-weight championship from Len Harvey is astonishing, and there are people now ready to support him to the limit in his bid for the world title.

Mr. Fred Shaw, a Cheshire sportsman and friend of McAvoy, announced recently his willingness to lodge £2,000 with the Board of Control for the Rochdale pugger to meet any middle-weight in the world.

But of more importance is the news that the Bello Vue, Manchester, promoters have made their biggest offer so far for Yarosz to visit England and oppose McAvoy.

BIGGER OFFER.

Negotiations have been proceeding for some time. The first offer to the American was rejected, but in view of McAvoy's recent performance a much larger bid has been made. The amount is not disclosed, but it may be assumed that about £5,000 would be needed to tempt Yarosz to make the trip.

Mr. "Jimmy" Johnston, who is not having a very successful time at Madison-square Garden, is very much interested in the match and has cabled an offer to McAvoy, but this "hate" plum will not lightly be surrendered by Manchester, and London, too, in the person of Mr. Jeff Dickson, will bid for it.

THE BRITISH TITLE.

McAvoy's future so far as the English boxers of his class are concerned is decidedly dismal. He is due to defend his British championship against Al Burke, the London-born Australian, whom he will stop in quick time. But after that, what then?

There is not an English-born 11st. 6lb. man worth matching with McAvoy. Even Marcel Thil, the official world champion, will have none of him.

America claims Yarosz as the champion, he having beaten Vince Dundee, so that if McAvoy can get a verdict over him it will mean something. Thil would have to fight him then.

McAvoy is one of the fittest men in England—a non-smoker and teetotaler, though he is the proprietor of a public-house, and he is rated so highly by his backers that they are sincere in their belief that he can beat Jack Petersen.

"Pa" Petersen scoffed at this proposal when it was first made, but McAvoy's representative informed me that their £1,000 challenge to Petersen still holds good.

Personally, I am more interested in the Yarosz proposal, and it is to be hoped the present negotiations will be successful.

FRIENDLY HOCKEY

EAST LANCS. BEAT BORDERERS

Y.M.C.A. ALSO LOSE

A friendly match was played at Shamshulpo Camp yesterday afternoon between the East Lancashire Regiment and the South Wales Borderers. The former won a well contested game by two goals to nil.

On Monday the South Wales Borderers defeated the East Lancashire Regiment by four goals to nil on the U.S.H.C. ground.

Y.M.C.A. BEATEN.

In a friendly hockey match played at King's Park yesterday afternoon, the Royal Corps of Signals defeated a depleted European Y.M.C.A. team by two goals to nil. Both goals were netted in the first half of play. The Y.M.C.A. fielded only seven men.

RADIO CLUB PLAYERS.

The undermentioned will represent the Radio Sports Club in a friendly hockey match against St. Andrew's Club on the Marina ground at 5.15 p.m. to-morrow:—U. B. Souza; Ferdinand Singh and J. S. Grewal; L. B. Kitchell, M. H. Hassan and J. M. Tavares; Surjit Singh, Jagmeet Singh, Awant Singh, Attar Singh and F. A. Kenp (Capt.), and Reserves:—Bhagwan Singh and Gurdaj Singh.

CLUB'S SENIOR ELEVEN.

The following have been selected to play for the Hongkong Hockey Club in their match against the 1st Batt. South Wales Borderers on the Club Ground at 5 p.m. to-day:—G. L. Gregory; J. Rodger (Capt.) and E. V. Reed; G. Sommers, W. A. Reed and J. L. Tetley; N. A. E. Mackay, H. O. Bramble, A. T. Lay, A. A. R. Holcitho and J. W. Pote-Hunt.

taking the most serious step of disbanding the game, the sentence of eight weeks on Mr. Baker was indeed unjust and not in accordance with the severity of the alleged foul. Perhaps this only shows the prejudiced mentality of the Emergency Committee and it would be interesting to know if the same warning given to the Young Indians was given to any of the above clubs. May be our friend "Veritas" could enlighten us on this point.

NO OTHER ALTERNATIVE.

In withdrawing from the league the Young Indians did it more as an act of desperation forced on by the attitude continuously adopted by the Emergency Committee rather than as an act of heroism. They were left with no other alternative but to withdraw from the league.

By the way, the writer can recall an occasion on which a very prominent soccer club once, dissatisfied with the decision of a committee of the Association, withdrew from the league and considerable influence was brought into the controversy at the time with the result that the said Committee's decision was squashed and the Club concerned re-instated.

Of course, the Young Indians Football Club is not such an influential member of the Association and no such support would be expected, but I do appeal to all sensible minded of the Association as well as to "Veritas" to go further into this unfortunate matter and I am fully confident of a just ending to an incident which is regarded by all well-wishers of local football.

Thanking you for giving this publicity in your valued columns,

Yours truly,
VERILY.
